HUMPHRYES HITS UNION 'VIOLATION'

Charges Agreement Broken As Workers Stay Off Jobs Third Day.

Production workers at the Humphryes Manufacturing company remained off their jobs for the third day today as a company official charged that pickets of Local 758, United Electrical Workers (CIO), had violated a company-union agreement by preventing employes from entering the plant.

Some 250 workers were off the job this morning but the company official said a meeting on the dispute between company and union officials has been scheduled for Monday at 9:30 a. m. if the workers are back at their jobs at that time. Production workers do not normally work on Saturday, it was said.

No Pickets Today.—

There were no pickets at the Humphryes plant this morning.

Harry G. Dotson, director of personnel, charged the union had violated its agreement with the company by using coercion in keeping workers from their jobs.

"It has been reported that the work stoppage has occurred by reason of a union protest of the discharge of an employe who used profane and abusive language in questioning the transfer of his son to another department," Dotson said. He added:

"In so doing, the man directly violated a standing rule of the company, which is well known. He also was insubordinate in refusing to obey orders given him.

"An erroneous report has been circulated to the effect that the company discharged a veteran. The fact is that the veteran left his job when his father was discharged. Reports have come to the company that men on the picket line broke the agreement between the company and the union by using coercion to influence employes. It is said that employes desiring to come to work have been told by pickets that they cannot return to work unless they join the union.

"Such conduct is in direct violation of the agreement between the company and the union, which provides that neither party will use coercion.

"The company has been complying with the agreement, which provides for the handling of grievances. A hearing has been given on the grievances; the company has given the union committee its answer on all questions submitted to it; and the company will perform its duties and obligations under the contract and do its part to protect the rights of all its employes," Dotson concluded.

21-Gun Salute Greets Truman

ANNAPOLIS — (AP) — A 21-gun salute greeted President Truman today as he arrived on his yacht, the USS Williamsburg, to visit the United States Naval academy.

On the president's schedule before witnessing the Navy - Penn State football game this afternoon were visits to classrooms and a luncheon talk to the midshipmen in their mess hall.

It's About Congress, Olivesburg

How will the recent Republican landslide affect the control of house and senate committees and their leadership? Tomorrow's News-Journal will give you, by pictures and story, an idea how political experts view this situation.

Olivesburg, historically one of the richest Richland county communities, will be the subject of a story, complete with pictures, telling how Olivesburg was founded, and its early struggle for existence in the "new west."

Also, tomorrow's readers will get a glimpse of how the Volunteers of America, co-operating with other agencies, care for families who have been evicted from their homes. An illustrated feature reviews the activities of the YMCA.

Hunters Escape Mishaps

For the first time in several years Mansfield area hunters escaped without an accident on the opening day of the hunting season although two hunters were killed and at least eight others were wounded in Ohio yesterday.

Reports trickling in from hunters indicated that pre-season predictions of only a fair crop of game this year were accurate.

Most Mansfield pheasant hunters journey many miles west and northwest to hunt, and reports from these were meager, since most of them are still out of the city today.

Reports from areas where pheasants are normally found indicated that Mansfield hunters got only a fair bag yesterday.

The Associated Press reported accidents yesterday were fatal to Robert Leroy Keeterle, 17, of Defiance, and John C. Waidman, of Stark county.

Keeterle, a Defiance high school sophomore, was killed near Evansport by a rifle bullet fired accidentally by a cousin.

Waidman, another high school student, poked the butt of his shotgun at his dog and was killed when it discharged in a mishap near Louisville in Stark county.

Girl Steps In Where 20 Men Fear to Tread

EVANSTON, Ill. —(INS)— The Smolinski brothers, Leo, 36, and Stanley, 23, were in a jail cell today still offering to "whip any three coppers put in here with us," but their offer didn't extend to a slip of a girl.

When the Brothers Smolinski knocked down Policeman Kenneth Mountain in a sandwich shop and started to kick him yesterday, none of the 20 men in the place offered to help the officer.

But Elizabeth Crawford, 18, who lives upstairs, broke a pop bottle over Leo's head and then had her nose broken by Stanley. All four went down swinging arms and legs.

Mountain finally struck Stanley with his pistol, but Leo disarmed him. Then a police squad arrived, broke up the battle, and the brothers Smolinski were charged with assault to commit murder.

WEEKEND WEATHER VARIED AS MARCH

The weather this weekend will be as varied as a March day, if the forecaster's right.

The weatherman predicted warmer weather late this afternoon and tonight, followed by rain late tonight. Tomorrow it'll be windy and wet, and by tomorrow night, cold weather will sweep into Mansfield.

A cold wave which has held the western section of the country in a grip of snow and sub-zero temperatures will bow into Ohio tomorrow, but the forecasters said the mercury was expected to hold around freezing in this section.

Hayesville reported a low of 40 degrees this morning, with a high of 54 yesterday afternoon.

Pioneer Inventor, Parker Fiske, Dies

NEWTON, Mass. —(AP)— Jonathan Parker B. Fiske, 81, a pioneer inventor in the field of electricity, brick manufacturing and oil burners, died at his home late last night after a long period of semi-invalidism.

While with the Delco division of General Motors, he developed the Frigidaire and later became general manager of the division handling that product. He obtained several patents on the electrically cooled ice cream cabinet and many labor saving devices for making bricks.

DIRKSEN IN RACE

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Rep. Dirksen (R) Ill., announced today that he is a candidate for the post of majority leader in the next house of representatives. Reps Halleck of Indiana and Jenkins of Ohio have already formally announced their candidacy and Rep. Brown of Ohio has stated he is "available" for the position should his colleagues choose him.

89 AND STILL GOING STRONG—C. F. 'Charlie' Ackerman, venerable president of the Mansfield Savings and Trust bank, celebrated his 89th birthday today by turning up bright and early at the "bank-on-the-corner" which he has headed for the past 36 years. Despite bad luck on yesterday's hunting trip, Ackerman was being consoled by a multitude of best wishes and hearty handclasps from friends and acquaintances who thronged the bank today to extend birthday congratulations.—(News-Journal staff photo)

USES NOW AN OHIO AGENCY

Eighteen employes of the Mansfield and Shelby offices of the Employment Service today were working for the State of Ohio as the Service reverted to state control after five years of wartime supervision by the federal government.

Only change visible at the North Diamond street office is in the name—now it's the Ohio State Employment Service.

No change of personnel is planned at either the Mansfield or Shelby office, according to C. W. Handley, manager, but the Shelby office will now be directly in control of state headquarters instead of the Mansfield branch.

The Mansfield Employment Service office opened in Dec. 1938, and has been in the same location since opening day. It was placed under federal control Jan. 1, 1942.

Two Marion Men Killed In Crash

MARION—(AP)—Two men were killed early today when an automobile, which the highway patrol reported had been stolen, crashed into a utility pole and overturned at the intersection of Routes 98 and 30-South, five miles east of here.

Electric wires from the pole wrapped around the car and police had to shut off the power before they could remove the bodies of the victims, Troy Donald Miller, 26, and Ansel Clifford Glenn, 27, both of Marion.

No Birds, But Lots of Greetings For 'C.F.'

C. F. "Charlie" Ackerman didn't get a bird yesterday—but he's getting a lot of hearty good wishes today.

From the time the Mansfield Savings and Trust bank doors opened this morning until noon, the spry little man, wearing a natty tie and puffing his familiar "Sherlock Holmes" pipe, staged a one-man reception party at "the bank on the corner." The occasion was his 89th birthday.

Over by the vault stood a gorgeous basket of 89 pink roses, huge lavender and yellow chrysanthemums and Shasta daisies, the traditional gift of the bank employes to their boss of 36 years.

There was only one thing wrong as far as the energetic president was concerned—the hunting was "very bad yesterday."

"I didn't even get a chance to shoot," Ackerman said. "Dale (Kaylor) and George (Garrison) got a bird apiece, but I think we picked a bad place for hunting pheasants."

Others in the party which tried the North Baltimore hinterlands for game, were Avery C. Hand, jr., and William Gibson.

"How about rabbits?" asked a friend.

"Oh, rabbits!" Ackerman passed the thought off with a wave of his hand. "You can always get rabbits. We were after pheasants!"

Ackerman, who is usually one of the first to arrive at the bank in the morning, started his banking career in 1873 at the age of 16. From an errand boy, 73 years ago, he gradually attained the helm in 1910 and has kept it ever since.

BULLETINS

THORNVILLE—(AP)—Two young men, unmasked, robbed the Peoples bank of an estimated $18,000 to $20,000 in this Perry county community at noon today. They escaped after forcing two bank employes and a customer into the vault. Mrs. Estella Witmer, assistant cashier, grabbed the key out of the vault and prevented the robbers from locking it.

LONDON—(INS)—The Moscow radio said today it has learned that Pope Pius XII will convene a special Christmas consistory to appoint five new cardinals.

AKRON—(INS)—The Akron Junior Chamber of Commerce revealed plans today to establish the country's third eye bank. It will be affiliated with the national eye banks in New York and Chicago for the restoration of sight.

DEALERS HAIL ORDER EASING CREDIT CURBS

City's Merchants Predict It Will Release Holiday Buying Flood.

Mansfield merchants and credit men today hailed the government's easing of credit controls and said the order relaxing restrictions on installment buying promises increased Christmas shopping here.

Under the Federal Reserve board order, all restrictions on charge accounts and loans will be scrapped and curbs on installment buying will be lifted from many items, effective Dec. 1.

The controversial "Regulation W" was revised, but down payment requirements for automobiles and 11 other scarce items will remain in effect.

Need Down Payments.

They are refrigerators, cooking stoves, washing machines, ironers, dishwashers, air conditioners, radios and phonographs, sewing machines and vacuum cleaners, furniture and rugs. A number of these items are manufactured in Mansfield.

Mansfield credit men also welcomed the government's action in wiping out requirements that charge accounts be paid within 70 days and that single payment loans be settled within 90 days.

Most businessmen said the move would make it easier for customers to buy goods which they need badly. One commented it "was a nice Christmas present from Uncle Sam."

J. W. Cook, merchandising manager at the H. L. Reed company, said:

"I think it will improve the situation for Christmas."

Alex Turner, owner of the Turner Home Appliance company, 182 Park avenue west, said "it means

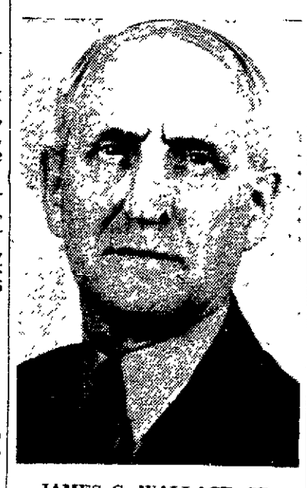
J. G. WALLACE STRICKEN AT 74



JAMES G. WALLACE, SR.

James G. Wallace, sr., 74, Mansfield business and civic leader and former Urbana newspaperman, died late yesterday at Mansfield General hospital following an illness of three hours.

Mr. Wallace was taken to the hospital following a stroke suffered at his office at the Richland Mutual Insurance company at 3:30 p. m. He died at 5:45 p. m.

Born Sept. 26, 1872, in Urbana, he came to Mansfield in 1922. Active in civic organizations, he was chairman of the Richland County Soldiers' and Sailors' Relief commission and former commander of the Charles Dick camp, United Spanish War Veterans.

At the time of his death he was secretary-treasurer of the Richland County Mutual Insurance company, and was serving on the advisory board of the Citizens National Bank and Trust company.

DEATH DRIVER SKIPS

AKRON—(INS)—Fred Guilmette, 26, of Ferndale, Mich., was killed early today near Akron by a hit-skip driver while the victim was pumping air into a tire on his automobile. His brother, Glain Guilmette, told police he was holding a flashlight while Fred did the pumping.

Stern Action In Coal Crisis Under Study

Plant Officials Fear Shortage of Raw Materials

Although coal supplies at most Mansfield industries will be adequate for at least 30 days, there will be a drastic shortage of raw materials if the threatened strike of United Mine Workers materializes Wednesday at midnight, a survey of Mansfield plants showed today.

If out-of-the-city plants which manufacture raw materials such as steel and copper and other metals are forced to reduce production because of a lack of coal, Mansfield plants would soon feel the curtailment in their production departments, plant officials said.

The Westinghouse Electric corporation has a six-week supply of fuel on hand, but anything may happen as far as raw materials are concerned, C. L. VanDerau, work superintendent, said today.

The plant uses great quantities of steel, copper and other metals in manufacturing electric appliances. If these are cut off, it will mean a decrease in production at the Mansfield plant, VanDerau said.

30-Day Supply Left.

There is a 30-day supply of raw materials on hand at the Hughes-Keenan company, it was disclosed by George Kahl, superintendent. Although coal supplies are not enough to last should the strike drag on indefinitely, there is a stock pile adequate for a week or 10 days, Kahl said.

The Empire Steel corporation has been prepared for the emergency, William Lake, superintendent, revealed. "We have on hand a 60-day supply of coal and although our scrap material is tight, we expect we'll be able to weather an emergency, unless it is too prolonged," Lake added.

The situation at the Ideal Electric Manufacturing company parallels that in other Mansfield plants. The firm has a supply of coal to last three or four months, but the raw materials situation there would cause concern, S. Glenn Vinson, president of the company, said. Unless adequate

MINERS READY TO OBEY LEWIS

LIBRARY, Pa. — (AP) — With Christmas just around the corner, John L. Lewis' coal miners in this western Pennsylvania community aren't looking forward to a strike with pleasure, but, they say, if their leaders tell them their contract is void, they will quit work.

Thomas McMonagle, who at 71 still works a regular shift in the Montour No. 10 mine, said:

"I'm not much for this striking business but I also don't believe in working without a contract."

McMonagle, who has worked in the mines since he was 8 and has witnessed some 25 strikes, added:

"The operators should be running the mines, not the government. Lewis was foolish in dealing with the government in the first place."

Other Montour miners also were somewhat critical of their leaders.

"Lewis got a good deal and should have left well enough alone," asserted John Snock. "I sure hope we don't have a strike. My pocket book can't stand it."

"My house can't stand it, either," said a companion, George Young. "I'm having a tough time getting it built as it is. A strike would make it worse."

A veteran worker at nearby Coverdale No. 8 mine probably expressed the feelings of his fellow workers most succinctly.

"Lewis is the boss. We'll do what he says regardless of our personal feelings—but it will be a tough Christmas."

MURDER TRIAL ADJOURNED

BELLEFONTAINE — (AP) — The second degree murder trial of Herman Clyde Laycock, 34, before a three judge court here was adjourned until next Wednesday. Laycock is accused of fatally beating his ex-wife Clella, 35, and throwing her body into Indian Lake where it was found June 18.

U. S. Keeps Secret Plans to Avoid Mine Walkout

By HAROLD W. WARD

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The administration, in a toe-to-toe showdown fight with defiant John L. Lewis, sought grimly today to hold 400,000 soft coal miners to a government contract the attorney general says is binding.

No official was telling just what will be done if Lewis persists in his contention that he can and will terminate the contract next Wednesday midnight, halting production at the 3,300 government-operated mines.

But there was talk that for a starter Secretary of the Interior Krug may take to the radio, tell the miners their chief's maneuver has no legal justification and ask them to keep on mining coal.

Although represented as determined not to put Lewis in the role of "martyr" those concerned with the fuel crisis spoke of:

1. Possible action under the Smith-Connally Act, which provides a year in prison and a $5,000 fine for inciting a strike against the government.
2. A special session of the lame duck congress to enact new laws forbidding strikes in so vital an industry as coal mining.

No Contract, No Work.

The Lewis position, however, is that there simply will be no valid contract in existence after the termination time he has set—and the United Mine Workers do not work without a contract.

Here he clashes head-on with Attorney General Clark, who advised Secretary Krug yesterday the contract is binding for as long as the government runs the mines.

Underscoring the gravity of the situation, the Solid Fuels Administration said the nation had only a 37-day supply of fuel on hand, compared with the 42-day stock just before last spring's crippling two-month walkout.

A proposal by Krug that Lewis negotiate with the mine operators for 60 days for a contract under which the digging could go back to private operation, meanwhile keeping the miners on their jobs, fell on deaf ears.

Strike Appears Certain.

A strike four days hence appeared certain unless:

1. Lewis accepts Krug's proposal for the 60-day truce, which the president called "eminently fair to both mine workers and operators."
2. Krug and the government back down and give Lewis a new contract calling for shorter hours without loss of pay.
3. The soft coal operators themselves step up with some satisfactory settlement.
4. The government finds some legal way to stop the strike.

GIRL, 17, CONFESSES DROWNING CRIPPLE, 8

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Firemen dragged the Blue river today for the body of an eight-year-old crippled boy after a 17-year-old girl told police she drowned him because he threw a dirty stone in her laundry.

Lieut. Charles Welch of the homicide bureau said the girl told police that she had lured Ross Key, jr. to the river and shoved him into the water. The boy had a speech impediment and limped as a result of infantile paralysis.

Welch said the girl told police that the boy had thrown a dirty stone into a basket of laundry she had just washed and that he had teased her and killed her pet dog.

The police officer described the girl as "rather childish" despite her seventeen years.

Bilbo Reported Too Ill to Appear As GOP Plans Challenge of Seat

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Republican moves to challenge Senator Theodore G. Bilbo (D-Miss) at the door of the senate Jan. 3 may go for naught. His physical condition may prevent his appearance.

This was learned today from an associate of Bilbo as the senate campaign investigating committee assembled to study complaints that the Mississippian tried to intimidate Negroes from voting in last summer's Democratic primary. Bilbo won election to a third term in the contest.

A Democratic member of the committee conceded in advance that an open hearing in Bilbo's home state is all but certain. He said the Republicans seem "hellbent for a hearing" and that the charges may as well be aired.

Bilbo, 69 years old, spent some time recently in a New Orleans hospital with a mouth ailment which was said to have resulted from friction of a denture. More recently, he was injured slightly in an automobile accident near his home at Poplarville, Miss.

A friend here said he had strong doubts that Bilbo would be present for the convening of the new senate.

Time To Crack Down On Lewis

RIGHT NOW is the time for a showdown with John L. Lewis! For the past 26 years, as head of the United Mine Workers Union, Lewis has been an arbitrary and dictatorial nuisance who has intermittently hampered production of one of the nation's vital resources.

Now he is defying government and threatening to cut off soft coal production at a time when this fuel is urgently needed for industrial purposes as well as to prevent suffering by millions of people.

Lewis has set next Wednesday night as the deadline—unless his demand for a new contract is met before that time. Government authorities say he has no right to terminate the present contract. The point is, can John L. Lewis dictate to the United States government? We shall soon see.

Trustworthy Leadership Is Vital Factor

THE NOMINATING COMMITTEE of Local 711 United Electrical Workers (CIO) is scheduled to meet tomorrow night to pick candidates for officers in the union. This group will be wise, and the union membership will be wise to see that the record of present officers is carefully scrutinized.

Under present leadership the union went through the longest and costliest strike that workers have undergone in the city's history. Business was adversely affected. Reconversion was delayed. And a wage increase was won which would mean nothing for many months because the extra money had already been lost through more than a hundred days of idleness when savings had to be spent.

Is this leadership, if returned to power, contemplating another strike after the first of the year? Rumor says so. But the rumor may be wrong. Every thoughtful citizen of Mansfield hopes that the rumor is entirely unfounded. Present Local 711 officers know whether it is true or not and they can advise union members of the truth, if they care to go on record.

Moreover, present leadership of Local 711 put the union in an unfortunate light during the recent Community Fund campaign by refusing to let stewards at the Westinghouse plant solicit pledges among hourly paid workers. They had a legal right to block solicitation by stewards, but the community has been the judge of whether it was a fair and proper action.

It is up to the union members to decide whether they want this type of leadership continued. The union is the largest in the city. Under sound leadership it can become a powerful influence for greater benefits to workers and for community betterment. The public is vitally concerned in all this.

Some Rent Increases Are Justified

WHILE individual rent increases, based on investment, valuation for taxation, upkeep costs, and the like, would probably be fairer, the proposed general increase of around 15 per cent in residential rents appears more practical, from an administrative standpoint.

Taking up each case on its merits would be an endless job and the suggested 15 per cent boost, while it may not be justified in some instances, is so nearly in accord with the general upward trend of living costs that it appears as a logical way of bridging over the present housing shortage —with rents eventually dropping again . . . or going further up, if the present inflationary movement should get entirely out of hand.

In at least a few instances the rent ceilings that have been in effect on living quarters have worked hardship on property owners required to meet higher costs of upkeep, but it cannot be doubted that some rental income already in effect has exceeded requirements for a reasonable profit on actual investment.

Proposal to eliminate rental ceilings from newly constructed homes and apartments is obviously designed to encourage more building, and to give assurance that rental income will be sufficient to make the investment profitable, even at the present high cost of labor and materials.

Greatest immediate need is for dwelling places within the purchasing power or rental maximum of returned veterans and civilian home-hunters whose income has not kept pace with substantially increased outgo—and the prospective increase in rents does not seem to be a forward step in the solution of this disturbing problem.

Attention Rejuvenates Old Car

WAYS by which an old car can be made to serve for awhile longer as individual and family transportation provide the basis for today's "Farmer's Diary" article, elsewhere on this page.

Calvin A. Byers, author of this interesting feature, has a rich fund of experience from which to draw in writing on this subject, and methods by which he has made a 1934 auto carry through to 1946 in serviceable condition should inspire fresh hope on the part of motorists who are tempted to junk a much younger vehicle.

Dividends Await Some Careless Folks

DO YOU keep track of money due you? If so, you are exceptional. Several million dollars in dividends are unclaimed, says a New York concern whose business it is to find the owners.

Stockholders move and do not always leave forwarding addresses, especially if their company has not been paying for some time. There are at least 167,000 such persons, according to records.

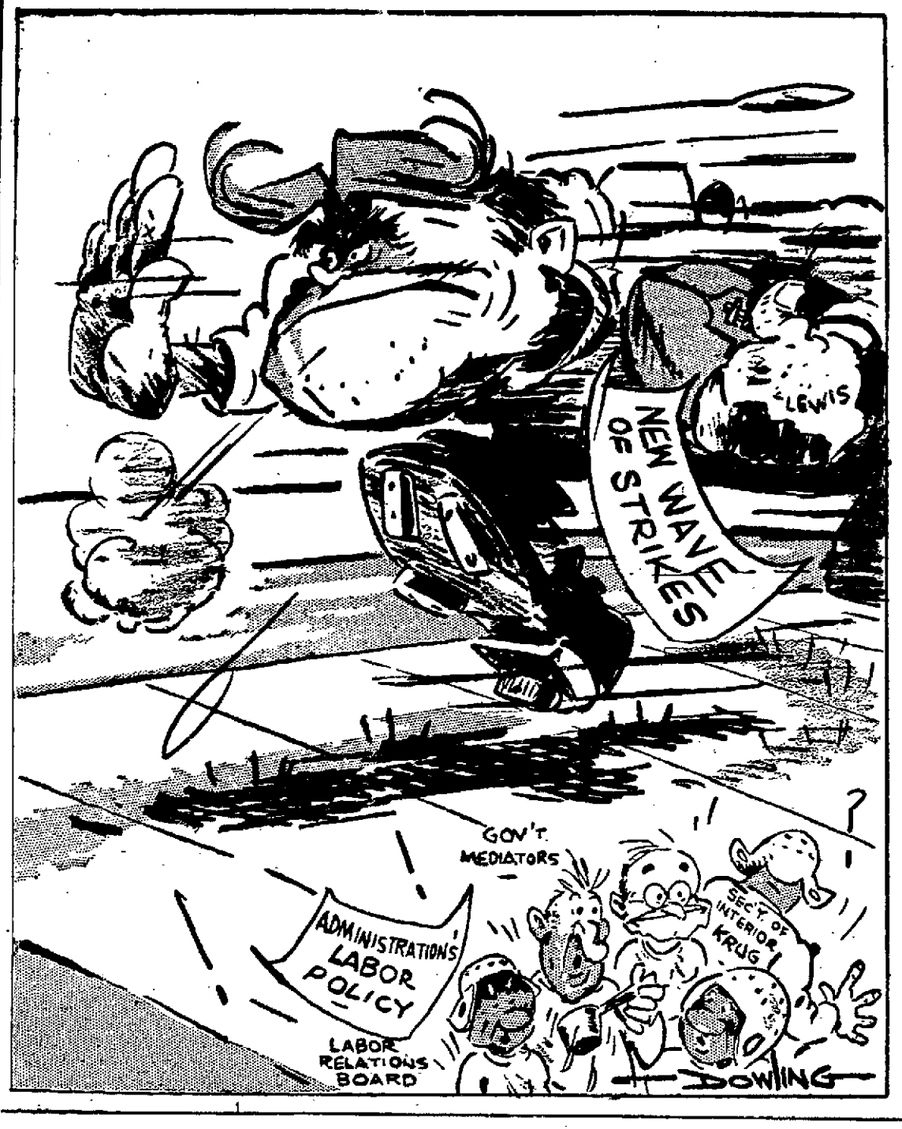
The Kansas City Star reports—for no apparent reason—that there are more poets than bartenders in Missouri . . . without even mentioning how the count stood before the exodus to Washington, D. C.

It's one of the navy's little newspapers that relates the incident of the first drunk asking, "Will you join me in a cup of coffee?" and the second replying, "Sure—you get in first."

One nerve specialist presents the appealing thought that, "the dumber we are the better"—which may account for a lot of things that sometimes seem odd.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and have a look at new car prices before you take a chance on wrecking the old one.

WHO'S GOING TO MAKE THE TACKLE?



Search For Uranium Source May Be Part of Planned Antarctic Trip

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.

DISPATCH of a 4,000-man naval expedition with 300 scientists to Antarctia makes it obvious that the United States is at last taking seriously the possibilities of that vast area which explorers have hardly touched.

Although it is described officially as a training project, there is a great deal more involved. When the navy sent a task force into the Arctic it was a navy proposition, assigned to naval problems.

The Byrd expedition, considering that its manpower is spread over 12 ships, evidently is more of an operational project, with the navy assigned to plant a scientific colony and feed it with information.

Antarctica, which has had a few narrow lines drawn across its vast face by previous expeditions, is to be criss-crossed by carrier planes equipped with all sorts of scientific detectors. Not only the contours are to be mapped, but more particularly what lies under them.

Admiral Byrd has denied that this is a search for uranium, but of course won't pass up any if he comes across it.

There is no indication that Antarctica is considered important militarily, although the fact that the British sent an important and secret expedition there during the war hints of things not immediately evident to the layman.

The fact that Russia also is sending an expedition probably means only that she is demonstrating that if others show too much interest in the Arctic, she can do a little reaching, too. There may be, too, information in the Antarctic which would help her in her remarkable development of the northernmost reaches of her own country into a habitable, economically valuable area.

But the United States, in this age of guided missiles and world-girdling planes carrying atomic bombs, already has determined to build military bases in northern Canada as soon as that country will agree.

The U. S. military frontiers are now in the South Seas, in North China, in Alaska and the Arctic, in the North Atlantic and along the Elbe. If Antarctica proves to be a necessary segment, then it will be made to fit.

The Byrd expedition also serves to remind of another interesting result of learning how to control atomic fission.

From now on it will be unsafe to permit any spot in the world to remain unexplored. And exploration now means not a mere trek which maps salient features and turns up the living habits of both flora and fauna.

Exploration now means that no source of uranium or thorium can remain undiscovered, because of the danger to the world of such hidden deposits.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Nov. 16, 1926.

LeRoy Collins and Walter Latimer, employes of the Ohio Public Service company, were fatally injured by contact with live-wire while working at Longview substation.

Spirit of Middle West.

When Patrick Hahn, a Du Page county farmer, was taken to the hospital with pneumonia and pleurisy, his principal worry was over tasks undone on his farm. There were 60 acres of corn to be harvested and 65 acres of land to be plowed. On Sunday, 35 of his neighbors pitched in and did the work. Their wives came along to help Mrs. Hahn fix the meals.

This incident of helpfulness is the best spirit of the middle west. From pioneer days the people who settled the prairies have put almost as much stock in neighborly cooperativeness as in self-reliance. Husking bees and quilting bees and exchange of help in plowing season and harvesting time are in the tradition. It is well that in the middle west this spirit has not died out, even though civilization has grown complex.

The solution achieved in Du Page county may well be the answer to all this country's troubles: Pitch in, work hard, and help your neighbor. — Chicago Tribune.

LIFE'S LIKE THAT

"She's timing it . . . Wants to see how long it'll burn before she buys a dozen of them."

Calvin A. Byers

Farmer's Diary: "Old Car Runs Again."

OUR automobile has been in the family for so many years that only the two older children can remember when we owned any other. We had owned it ten years before any major repairs were necessary. Since then it has been ailing in many ways—and wartime scarcities have made repairs very difficult.

It blew its top. I finally got a strip of awning canvas and tacked it neatly on, then painted it with aluminum paint and again and again with black. A junk yard furnished lights and horn, when those went bad. When the front upholstery wore out, we covered it with an old black and red blanket, and rode on. Once I thought the block had bursted from freezing. When I poured water into the leaky radiator, after a warmer spell of weather, it poured out of the engine at three places. So we let it stand, unused, while I walked to the village—or paid a neighbor for transportation to the city daily, giving thanks for such a neighbor —who lives three miles farther "out in the sticks" than I.

Spring came, and one fine day we got to investigating the old engine . . . plugged up the expansion plugs that had been forced out by the freeze, and to our surprise, the engine held water all right. All it took was coils—and spark plugs and wiring—and we could use it for short hauls all summer.

But one cold rainy day not long age, we had started for the village to get the mail. Just outside of town a sudden jangling and hammering began inside the engine. I shifted to neutral, and we coasted down to the nearest garage. There we stuck. We thumbed a ride home with a neighbor and left the car on the garage man's doorstep.

Asked what he thought might be wrong, he shook his head and grinned, "That's beyond me!"

Our city high school has an auto and machine shop, where students practice on whatever comes within their scope. Thither we towed the battered hulk of our 1934 Plymouth, via tractor—the two older boys riding "Lijah," and I guiding the automobile.

Next day I went into the auto shop to see what had been cause of all that engine clatter. The instructor, a seasoned mechanic, led me to a bench without a word and let me look at broken piston rings, clipped piston heads, and broken sides of pistons.

"Can you fix it?" I wondered.

"Yes—it might take two weeks. The cylinders aren't true any more —they'll have to be rebored. We'll have to make a bushing, or two. But I can get the parts—or make them—for you."

I said "Go ahead!"

It took two weeks. Now our car has its second wind. The engine runs so quietly that you cannot tell we're moving. But for a missing bumper, and one half a fender that has dropped off, it's a good car yet! No, thank you, we do not want to swap!"

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

Down to Brass Tacks.

There is a metaphor for every thought—and for some there are more than one!

Consider, for example, the matter of proceeding directly to the heart of a situation—itself a metaphorical phrase. We can go to the meat of the nut, the kernel of a question, the root of a controversy—and "get down to brass tacks"!

How baring the facts by stripping away surface generalities came to be known as "getting down to brass tacks" is an interesting evolution of language. The allusion is to the old practise, by upholsterers, of fastening material inside stuffed furniture with plain brass tacks. Substantial though a piece of furniture appeared the outer covering could easily hide shoddy inners. There was only one way to find out what was what—open up the seams and get down to the brass tacks!

Summary of Week's Happenings

Nation Awaits Price Reaction To Restoration of Free Competition

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

LABOR and management are nearly free of government curbs after almost five years. Will it be the start of an era of golden opportunity or one of epidemic disaster? It may take years to tell.

Four days after election, the president abandoned governmental control of wages and prices, except for ceilings on sugar, rice and rents. His action placed the nation at that point—that free economy—for which businessmen and union leaders, each in their own way, have been fighting.

Industry and business promised that prices will be held at reasonable levels—after a period of adjustment. Some of these leaders, however, tempered their pledges with a big "if"—if wage demands don't upset the applecart.

Deadlock Would Be Serious.

The labor unions, many already seeking higher pay to offset soaring living costs, said nothing officially. On the coal, steel, auto and several other fronts there is plenty of potential trouble if management and labor deadlock as they did six months ago.

The CIO convention, which opens in Atlantic City, N. J., this coming Monday, faces a crucial decision, disturbed by struggles between its right and left wing. The 600 delegates and 51-man executive board realize that organized factory workers want a hike in wages to offset rising prices. But if they strike, there is likely to be widespread support for severe labor legislation in the Republican-dominated congress.

Curbs for Labor.

Two Republican senators already are mapping plans for revision of the National Labor Relations act.

Sen. Joseph Ball of Minnesota, a member of the potent senate labor committee, has pledged a fight to outlaw the closed shop when the 80th congress convenes in January.

Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan advocates broad revision of the act by establishing labor courts to settle disputes in key industries and holding labor and management equally responsible for contract violations.

Against this backdrop of impending legislation, John L. Lewis was the first union leader to go to bat in the new, free swinging era of collective bargaining.

budget, is highlighted by an AFL report which, by-passing government cost of living statistics, found an increase of 500 to 600 percent in food prices in Washington in a study of postwar and prewar newspaper advertisements.

Checking ads by the same stores in the nation's capital in June, 1939, and November 1, 1946, AFL researchers found beef rib roasts sold for 25 cents a pound in 1939 and 69 cents now. Eggs were advertised at two dozen for 35 cents, while today a single dozen runs between 49 and 75 cents.

Coffee, two pounds for 35 cents in 1939, now is offered at two pounds for 61 cents.

Other then and now price comparisons include chuck roast, 15 to 17 cents in 1939, now 45 cents; leg of lamb 27, now 55 when available; pork roast 11 cents, now 63; hams 25 cents, now 49, veal cutlets 33, now 69 cents.

Effort to End Klan.

In Atlanta, the outgoing administration of Gov. Ellis Arnall is racing against time to smash the corporate entity of the Ku Klux Klan in Georgia before inauguration of Governor-elect Eugene Talmadge.

Talmadge, who takes office in January, announced several weeks ago he would order the suit dropped.

The petition against the Klan will be heard in Atlanta superior court on November 25.

Meanwhile, another Georgian super racial group—the Columbians, Inc., an avowed anti-Negro, anti-Semitic outfit—tore up its charter and mailed the pieces to the state's attorney rather than answer a court summons.

Byrd on the Wing.

Adm. Richard E. Byrd will start soon for Little America at the head of a navy "scientific task force" of 13 ships and 4,000 men, including 300 scientists. The expedition is expected to take four months.

It will be a vitally important mission, perhaps even more hush-hush than his wartime projects.

Byrd denied the navy was in a polar uraninum race, saying the expedition was primarily of a military training nature. He added, however, that uranium would be among other metal deposits studied.

Whittling at Controversies.

The daily task of the Big Four foreign ministers in New York is to draft final peace treaties with the five Axis satellite nations. While progress still is slow there are signs that the London and Paris deadlocks thus far have been avoided.

New areas of agreement, after the ministers completed their first round of discussion of treaties for Italy, Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Finland are still small. Every time they came to an outstanding issue in dispute, they passed it over. Some critics said their main accomplishment appeared to be in cataloguing their disagreements.

Return of a Prodigal.

Howard Spencer, wealthy American who left this country in 1939 because of a feud with the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt, came back to visit his former estate at Hyde Park, N. Y., in the wake of the Republican landslide.

Spencer, now a legal resident of Harbor Island in the Bahamas, turned over his 500-acre estate, Krum Elbow, (across the Hudson river from the F.D.R. home) to Father Divine, for use as a Negro cult "Heaven."

Spencer said he had kept a house on the estate and was going "to air out my part of Heaven." He plans to return to the Bahamas after a short visit to the U. S.

Plea for Unity.

Six days after the Republican sweep in the congressional elections, President Truman, titular head of the Democratic party, called upon both major political parties to exercise "wisdom and restraint" and to place national welfare above party consideration.

Aware of global concern over outcome of the American elections, the president stressed in his Armistice day address the bipartisan nature of U. S. foreign policy. Republican control of congress for the first time since 1932 did not mean a change in America's foreign attitude because, the president said, the government's well-charted course had been developed and executed with members of both parties in and out of congress participating at every stage.

The 80th congress, which convenes in January, will mark the end of 14 years of uninterrupted Democratic control in both houses.

Communist Infiltration Plagues Unions.

WASHINGTON—In the recent election the majority spoke up, in the light of campaign issues, against excesses by some labor leaders and unions and against Communist infiltration into some labor and other organizations.

The chief problem facing the Republican party as it prepares to assume management of the next congress, is how to gauge the protest and translate it into action, with the proper discount for the usual fast pulse and high fever of political campaigns.

The temptation is to go overboard. Some Republicans recognize the danger of going too far and are urging caution against extremism in labor legislation, not only as a wise policy for the nation, but sound politically for the party.

Among these is Senator Morse, (R., Ore.), who has had much experience with industrial disputes and industry-labor relations in general, including duty as public member of the war labor board.

So loud was the noise of protest and so strong the public reaction that some party leaders seem to have been caught up in the emotion of the hour and influenced, at least for the moment, more than might have been expected from their previous records.

Senator Ball (R., Minn.), who usually is regarded as in the progressive, or at least moderate wing, of his party, now has come out for a federal ban on the closed shop.

It is true that three more states —Nebraska, Arizona and South Dakota — voted constitutional amendments outlawing the closed shop in the recent election, making a total of six with such constitutional bans. Two other states have laws apparently designed to that end but not yet tested and interpreted. South Dakota already had a state law before it voted a ban against the closed shop into its constitution.

Though interesting, this state trend is hardly overwhelming. It does not include any industrial states. Nor does it include Senator Ball's own state of Minnesota. Nor is there a ban against the closed shop in the labor regulatory bill jointly sponsored in the last congress by Senators Ball, Hatch (D., N.M.), and former Senator Burton, now on the supreme court.

That measure, which never passed, did require as a condition to a closed shop that the union must represent 75 per cent of the workers, and it required that 60 per cent of the wokers must have voted for it.

Hitherto, the closed shop has been a matter of negotiation between management and labor, and, if agreed to by both parties, is permitted by the Wagner Act.

Another issue in the campaign, Communist activity, was used quite effectively against labor and Democrats.

The plague of Communism is now recognized as a real problem for Liberals and Progressives in a few labor unions and other organizations.

As a practical matter, the most effective means of eliminating such influence seems to be that already adopted in some unions and organizations.

That is to unmask the Communists and vote them out and root them out of the key spots as a matter of internal government and policing.

This housecleaning is recognized as the most effective way to meet this danger and to combat the witch-hunt type of activity which, as is known, is used by certain interests to discredit Labor and Liberal organizations.

This problem is one that faces the CIO at its annual convention next week in Atlantic City. How it handles it may determine how successful labor can be hereafter as a political influence.

European leftists, who chalked up election gains in France and Italy, confidently expect another victory Tuesday in the Romanian elections.

In France where weary voters cast ballots for the fourth time in seven months the Communists emerged as the strongest political party in the new Fourth Republic but the returns did not appear decisive enough to bring about a strictly left-wing government.

Leftist victories in five of six big cities in Italy's municipal elections appeared to point to enforced union of the divided opposition.

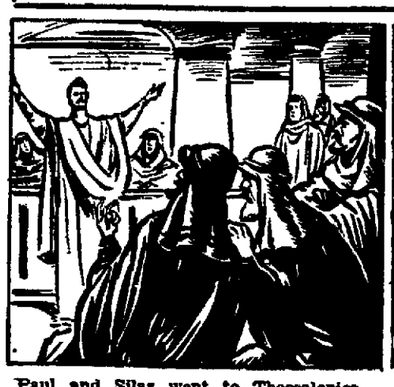
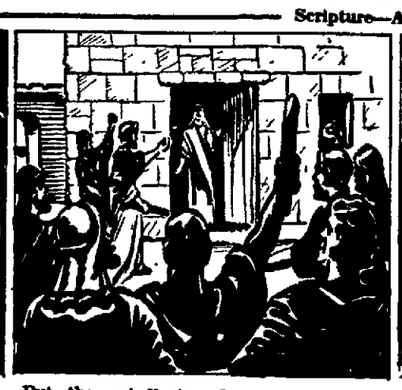
Paul Ministers to the Thessalonians — ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Acts 17:1-11; I Thess. 1-4; 4:13-18; II Thess. 3:7-13.



Paul and Silas went to Thessalonica, largest city of Greece, and preached in the synagogue, and many Jews and Greeks believed, and many of the chief women.



But the unbelieving Jews gathered a company and set all the city in an uproar, going to Jason's house, where Paul lodged, assaulting the house, taking Jason and others.

The rulers, when they had taken security of Jason, let them go, and they sent Paul and Silas away by night unto Berea, where they went into the synagogue of the Jews.

About two years later Paul wrote to the Thessalonians who believed, telling them, "But ye, brethren, be not weary in well doing."

Gospel Center Conference Opens Sunday

A week-long annual missionary conference opens tomorrow at the Mansfield Gospel Center, 80 South Diamond street, Leo Keifer, 592 Westview boulevard, announced today.

Rev. James W. Smith, of Haiti, will speak at both morning and evening services Sunday. He also will preach at the daily evening services at 7:30 through next Sunday.

Rev. Ralph H. Stoll, a Bible teacher, will speak Monday and Wednesday evenings.

A Florida Bible instructor, Dr. Harvey Farmer, will preach at evening services on Thursday and Friday, and he also will speak at the Sunday services.

Worship services are held at 10:45 a. m. Sunday, and the Sunday school meets at 9:30 a. m. The young peoples' meeting is at 6:30 p. m. Sunday.

U. B. Changes Church Name

The name of the First United Brethren church, 83 Park avenue east, has been changed to the First Evangelical United Brethren church, Rev. Guy F. Hartman, pastor, announced yesterday.

The change, he said, is in line with the decision of the General Conference meeting at Johnstown, Pa., this week, to unite the two denominations of the United Brethren in Christ and the Evangelical denomination.

Rev. Hartman is attending the Johnstown conference, which will continue through next Thursday.

In the absence of Rev. Hartman, the 9:30 a. m. worship service tomorrow will be conducted by Rev. LeRoy J. Hopper. Sunday school meets at 10:30 a. m., with Robert Hoover, superintendent, in charge.

ARMY, NOTRE DAME SHARE SPOTLIGHT

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Notre Dame-Army game of a week ago is ancient history, but the two top contenders for the nation's mythical grid title come up again today for a major share of attention in the country's grid picture.

At Philadelphia, Penn's mighty Quakers are poised to explode against the battle-weary Cadets whose 0-0 tie with the Irish was their only non-winning effort in 26 games. Franklin field is 78,000 sellout for this one.

Northwestern's Wildcats wait to claw Notre Dame's 20-victory string in a game that promises plenty of action for an expected 56,000 at South Bend, Ind. Northwestern last spilled the Irish in 1940 but never has beaten a Frank Leahy-coached team.

The country's only two major unbeaten and untied teams Georgia and the University of California at Los Angeles—currently third and fourth in the national rankings—aim to stay right up there and even possibly overtake the leaders. The Bulldogs take on an unimpressive Auburn eleven while out on the coast UCLA entertains Montana.

Ivy and tradition clutters the program in the east. Princeton plays Yale in the Big Bowl in the 69th renewal of this series, while Harvard, current Ivy league leader, entertains battered Brown in the Crimson's perennial tune-up for Yale. Dartmouth is on the menu for Cornell, rebounding from its Syracuse upset.

Syracuse and Colgate tangle with the upstate pennant at stake and Rutgers is expected to hammer Lehigh and take the middle three crown. Luckless Navy is still seeking its second victory with rugged Penn State standing in the way.

Tennessee goes to Boston for an intersectional tilt with B. C., and the Eagles can dampen the Vols' bowl hopes and strengthen their own position by winning this one.

In the Southern conference, South Carolina's undefeated record in league competition faces a threat in Duke. Georgia Tech meets Tulane and Alabama tries Vanderbilt. An intersectional battle tonight pits Villanova against Florida.

Aside from the Notre Dame-Northwestern argument, the standout in the midwest is at Champaign, Ill., where first-place Illinois and third-place Ohio State occupy the Big Nine spotlight. Wisconsin's invasion of Michigan and Iowa's visit to Minnesota also have title significance.

Missouri's leadership in the Big Six is at stake in the Tigers' game with Oklahoma. Kansas meets Kansas State and Nebraska engages Iowa State in games that could throw the conference into a four-way tie for first place.

Arkansas, pace-setter in the Southwestern conference, entertains Southern Methodist. Texas and Texas A. & M., currently tied for second place, are favored over their respective opponents, Texas Christian and Rice.

Illinois attempted to keep its title hopes alive against the high-powered Ohio State Buckeyes, who have gained more yardage than any team in the Big Nine this year.

A crowd of some 62,000 was expected for the "make or break" tussle, with Illinois ruling a slight edge. The Illini enter the game at top strength after a two-week layoff from competition.

The Illini have lost only to Indiana, 14-7, in their only setback in five conference starts while Ohio State has been beaten by Wisconsin and tied by Purdue. But since then, George Spencer, a foxy quarterback who has developed into a fine passer has piloted the Buckeyes to a pair of 39-point performances over Northwestern and Minnesota.

SPORTS ROUND-UP

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK—(AP)—The pro footballers have discovered a big jump in the number of penalties in the National league this year and figure it is because every player is in there trying. . . . This season officials have called an average of 21.7 penalties per game and enforced 15.3 of them after the offended team had a chance to decline as compared to 12.6 enforced penalties in 1945 games. . . . "It's simple," explains one student of statistics. "It's a close race and there's competition on the teams so everybody is working hard on every play. You don't get penalized unless you do something."

STEEL PLATO.

In a recent Big Six football game, an opposing tackle slugged Oklahoma's big Plato Andros right on the chin. Plato didn't even blink and the other guy apologized for his hasty action. . . . "That's all right, podner," Andros told him (in approved cowboy language), "that's the way to play football." . . . Later Plato explained: "That hurt him a lot more than if I'd cocked a Sunday on him and it didn't cost us as many yards."

ONE-MINUTE SPORTS PAGE.

Sunset high school of Dallas is justly proud of having four boys on the Army grid squad, but Bullis prep of Washington, D. C., can improve on that record. Four Bullis grads play for Navy, two for Army. . . . Dumb Dan Morgan claims that the reason for the shortage of good fights is too much money. "If you give a fighter $1,000, it takes him all day to count it," says Dan. "With the dough some of these bums have been dragging down, it's no wonder they have to take six months off."

Burr Baldwin, UCLA end, not only is good enough to shove Phil Tinseley, All-America at Georgia Tech last year, down to the second team, but Phil admits Burr has taught him tricks he never knew existed.

Perrysville Rips Polk Five, 51-42

PERRYSVILLE—Pouring on the steam in the last two chapters, Perrysville defeated a plucky Polk quintet, 51-42, here last night.

Polk shot ahead at the quarter, 14-13, and held a 24-22 margin at the half. However, Perrysville pushed 12 points into the hoop to lead, 34-27, as the final heat opened.

Marv "Shorty" Cates splashed home nine fielders and four gratis tosses for the victors.

Perrysville won the prelim contest from Polk, 22-16, with Jim Carr connecting for 14 points.

Bengals Take Seventh Triumph

WALLOP RIDERS 32 TO 14

By BRUCE M'GINTY

MARTINS FERRY—Mansfield Senior high footballers wrote one of the best seasonal records into Tyger grid annals here last night by overpowering Martins Ferry, 32 to 14.

In rolling to their seventh victory of the 1946 campaign, Coach Paul Snyder's big Bengal horde was forced to turn on the steam in the second half to overcome the stubborn Purple Riders. Mansfield lost only one game (Toledo Waite's state champions defeated the Tygers), and was tied by Massillon and Canton Timken.

Martins Ferry carried the distinction of having one of Ohio's better defensive clubs into the ball game, but when the teams trotted off the soggy gridiron the delusion was shattered. Ferry had not allowed any of its previous opponents more than 13 points.

Ross Frisbee, place kick expert, and Bill McKee, Tyger speed king, were injured, but Substitute Harry Osbun and Nick Gagich proved their worth when they accounted for three of the Mansfield touchdowns.

Frisbee was injured early in the game, while McKee suffered a bad bruise on the knee at the beginning of the second half.

Osbun broke through the line after a delayed buck and galloped 40 yards for the final tally in the fourth stanza. His first score came on a one-yard plunge through center.

Gagich accounted for his score when he blasted through tackle from the six-inch stripe in the second quarter.

With only two minutes of play remaining in the first half and trailing 14 to 12, the Tygers took to the airways in desperation with Ollie Cline hitting his receivers three straight times for 53 yards and a TD.

Taking the kick-off after the Purple Riders had scored their second touchdown, Ralph Majors sped to the Rider 47.

Cline threw to McKee for seven and 10 yards, advancing the ball to the Purple 30-yard stripe. Cline faded back to the 50 where he heaved a 40-yard pass to Al Henke.

Henke, who had raced over the goal line for the intended pass, retraced his steps and made a spectacular catch out of the waiting arms of three defensive backs on the 10 yard line and then romped into pay dirt to give the Tygers an 18 to 14 lead. Frisbee entered the game and converted the extra point as the half ended.

Mansfield won the toss and received Frank "Pedro" Twardoski's, kick-off on the Tygers' 21, with Majors returning to the 37. McKee darted off tackle to the 46 and Cline smashed through the line for a first down on the 49

Majors gained only a yard through tackle and Frisbee picked up five. McKee added five.

Majors plowed through center for four and McKee and Frisbee accounted for nine, moving the ball to the Rider 31. Frisbee picked up four.

Majors gained 16 yards on three plays and moved the ball to the seven. McKee culminated the 63-yard Tyger march as he plunged through center for the first score. Nick Gagich's conversion was wide.

Twardoski started the Riders first march by returning Cline's kickoff 21 yards to the Ferry 41. Twardoski's passing, he completed three for 49 yards, featured the drive with "Rock" Garden, 15-year-old frosh, going over from the three.

The Tygers marched back to go ahead 12-7 when Gagich blasted over after Cline had bootlegged the ball 14 yards into scoring territory.

Dick Thomas, Rider end, recovered a McKee fumble at midfield and Twardoski completed passes to Oancea and James Eden for 46 yards. Garden went over from the two.

It was then that the Tygers moved to the airlanes to go ahead at the intermission.

Coming back in the second half, the heavier Mansfield team proved its strength and power in holding the Ferry aggregation to a stand still while romping for two more tallies.

At the end of the third quarter a Mansfield fumble on the Purple Rider three stopped a TD attempt. Eden recovered.

The first play of the final period saw Majors return Eden's punt, from behind his own goal, 14 yards to the Rider 34.

Osbun hit center for three and Majors went off tackle for four. Cline tossed another aerial to Henke who was forced out-of-bounds on the three after a 24-yard advancement.

Osbun hit center for three yards and the Tygers fourth score.

Dave Wentz, Tyger center, intercepted a Twardoski aerial on the Rider 47 to start the final push. On two plays Mansfield advanced to the 40 when Osbun on a delayed buck found an opening and out ran the Ferry secondary for the six-points. Frisbee entered the game and converted the extra-point.

Mansfield out-rushed Martins Ferry 305 to 42 yards and compiled 16 first downs to eight for the Purple and White. Ferry outgained Mansfield by 44 yards in the a,r 146 to 102.

Browns, Yanks Can Clinch Tie

NEW YORK—(AP)—The Cleveland Browns and New York Yankees can clinch a tie for the titles in the two divisions of the All-America football conference tomorrow and, with the proper cooperation from the Los Angeles Dons, the Yankees could win the eastern championship outright.

Only three games are scheduled in the younger of the two major professional circuits tomorrow afternoon but all of them will have a direct bearing on the title race. The Chicago Rockets will be at Cleveland with the San Francisco Forty-niners at New York and Los Angeles invading the home of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

A triumph for the Yankees would give them a record of eight victories, two losses and a tie, with three more games to play. The Dodgers, runner-up in the eastern division, must defeat the Dons to retain a mathematical chance to share in the title.

Cleveland can boost its record to nine wins and two losses by beating Chicago but it would take a San Francisco defeat to enable the Browns to sew up a share of the western crown. With six victories and four defeats, the Forty-niners now are only two games behind the Browns.

Caledonia Swamps Iberia, 54 to 31

IBERIA—With Freet and Comstock hitting the mesh for 28 points, Caledonia defeated Iberia here last night, 54-31, in the season's opener for both squads.

Iberia led at the quarter, 9-8, but dropped behind at intermission time, 26 to 14. Ralph Gaverick tallied 14 points for the losers Caledonia also copped the reserve conflict, 22-16.

Iberia plays at Morrel Tuesday night.

Barons Gunning For Fifth In Row

The Cleveland Barons will be gunning tonight for their fifth straight victory this season over the Buffalo Bisons and undisputed first place in the Western division of the American Hockey league.

Indianapolis, with whom the Clevelanders are tied for top spot, will mix with Springfield.

Beaten four times by the Barons, the Bisons will invade the Cleveland arena with their squad riddled by injuries. Only three defensemen will be available for the contest

The Barons will journey to St. Louis for a battle with the Flyers tomorrow night.

Cleveland Rebels Seek Third Straight Victory.

ST. LOUIS—(INS)—The Cleveland rebels will seek their third straight victory in the Basketball Association of America tonight at St. Louis against the Bombers.

The Clevelanders will return to their home roost tomorrow to face the Chicago Stags.

The Chicago quintet is coached by Harold G. Olsen, former director of Ohio State's cagers. Max Zaslofsky, of Brooklyn St. John's, is the Stags' leading scorer to date.

'Violent Ray Takes Walcott

NEW YORK—(AP)—Of all the heavyweights in the world today, Joe Louis is probably palpitating the least at the moment over the closer-than-the-buttons-on-your-vest decision Elmer 'Violent' Ray pinned on Jersey Joe Walcott.

The beak-busting in Madison Square Garden last night figured to provide the challenger Louis is going to take on in a heavyweight defense next summer.

Well, Elmer came squeaking through with this narrow one over Joyous Joe for the entertainment of 17,413 customers who chipped in to a fancy pot of $97,309. This one was as close as your next breath, with two of the three officials splitting on their ballots and the third voting it five-rounds-and-five, and giving Ray the "duke" on the slim edge of one point—9 to 8—which, incidentally, is what they paid off on.

The Associated Press score card gave it to Ray on his let's-walk-in-and-wallop style, five rounds to three, with two even.

Off last night's job of knit-two-and pull-one, the general impression is that if either of them has designs on the Brown Bomber's bauble, he'd better show up equipped with tommy gun and flak vest.

Dukes Demolish 'Cats, 44 to 6

WELLINGTON — Fullback Sponseller, of Wellington, proved too much for New London's Wildcats as he ran wild for five touchdowns to lead the Dukes to a 44 to 6 last night win.

The bruising Duke backfield ace scored on runs of 40, 25, 15, 12 and eight yards. Dague and Furcon each hit pay-dirt once for Wellington on off tackle smashes and Perkins place kicked two extra points.

Bobo Belmer, Wildcats jarring fullback, accounted for New London's lone TD on a plunge through center for nine yards.

Waite Adds Impetus to Title Claim

Mighty Toledo Waite today strengthened the claims of sports writers who voted it the number one schoolboy grid club in the state.

The Indians showed their amazing power in all departments last night when they demoralized a city loop rival, Toledo Devilbiss, 60 to 6.

In Lima, meanwhile, the traditional clash between that city's Central and South clubs ended in a rout. Central blanked South 32 to 0, thereby administering the worst beating in the series. The victors, third-ranking in the state in the INS poll, thus ended their season with a record of 10 straight wins.

Elsewhere on scholastic gridirons, Toledo Libbey—the eleven which scored the astonishing upset win over Waite several weeks ago—took the measure of Barberton 19 to 7. Some experts had predicted an upset in that game.

Mansfield, just out of the top ten, downed Martins Ferry 32 to 14, while Wheeling, W. Va., was clubbing Bridgeport 22 to 20 in another down-by-the-river contest.

In other contests, Portsmouth slaughtered New Boston 52 to 6; Springfield triumphed over Marion Harding 28 to 6; Alliance beat Canton Timken 19 to 0, and Steubenville was tied 19-19 by visitors from Erie, Pa., Tech.

Lexington Quint Tops Johnsville

JOHNSVILLE—Lexington won a defensive battle from Johnsville high school here last night, 22-15.

Johnsville held a momentary lead in the first half, 4-2, but Lexington forged in front and possessed a 10-6 advantage at halftime. Johnsville copped the reserve contest.

Lincoln Booster's Charge Gets No Backing From School Heads

By JOHN BARRINGTON

CANTON—(INS)—Canton's intramural flare-up between Lincoln and McKinley high school athletic dynasties gave every indication today of being a teapot tempest.

Charges by a special committee of the Lincoln Booster club that McKinley was "recruiting" players in its neighbor's back yard failed to receive official backing from school heads.

A statement—inspired by McKinley's use of an allegedly ineligible player in a game between the two schools a few weeks ago—said that Lincoln could not meet McKinley on even terms unless it received a "square deal" from school officials.

Superintendent of Schools Jesse H. Mason said today, however, that the youth in question was eligible scholastically. McKinley officials admitted his name was inadvertently left off the pregame eligibility list, but officials of both McKinley and Lincoln agreed that such "things often happen."

Coach Bup Rearick of McKinley said the boy, a freshman, was a third-stringer and entered the game only when the McKinley bench was cleared of subs in the closing minutes of a 34-0 rout of Lincoln.

Misunderstanding apparently arose from the fact that the boy's residence is in the Lincoln district. Mrs. Katharine Maxwell, principal of the grade school he attended last year, said the youth's name was included on a long list of students to receive special instruction given only at McKinley.

"Football never entered the discussion at all," said Mrs. Maxwell.

Lincoln has a 1946 football record of five wins and four losses while McKinley, rated fourth in the state, has won seven, lost one and tied one.

Last year, Lincoln was undefeated although playing ties with McKinley, Massillon and Toledo Waite.

Lincoln is a comparative newcomer to the Canton picture. Prior to the last decade, McKinley had unrestricted access to the city's schoolboy power. Both Lincoln and Lehman high schools, however, now are of comparable size to McKinley.

In addition, Timken, a vocational high school, and Central Catholic field sports teams.

(In Columbus, State High School Athletic Commissioner Harold W. Emswiler said a copy of the Lincoln booster statement forwarded to him would call for no official action. He added that, since the boy in question was legitimately entered in McKinley, his office would exercise no authority.)

THIEVES KEEP POLICE BUSY

Theft of cash and merchandise amounting to nearly $250 in Mansfield and Bellville yesterday and last night was reported today to police and Sheriff Frank E. Robinson.

Mansfield police also were told that an Orchard street couple was molested last night by three men who demanded money, while a Springmill street resident said a man entered her home and fled without taking anything when she called for help.

Theft of a purse containing $70 from the office of the Loughridge insurance office in the Farmers Bank building yesterday afternoon was reported by Emma Beck, 253 West Fourth street, owner of the purse. She said it was taken while she was out of the office.

Leo Kaffalas, who lives at the DeSoto hotel, told police a saxophone and equipment valued at $155 were stolen from his automobile yesterday afternoon while it was parked at Third and Adams streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Parker, 71 Orchard street, said three men approached their automobile on Orchard street about midnight. One of the men demanded money, and when Parker refused, another attempted to seize his wife. Parker hailed a passing motorist, who took him to police headquarters. Police failed to find any trace of the men.

Mrs. Clyde Wharton, 506 Springmill street, reported a strange man entered the living room of her residence yesterday without knocking. He did not attempt to molest her and she said apparently nothing was missing. He fled when she called for help.

Sheriff's officers today were investigating a report of a burglary of the Shell filling station on South Main street in Bellville. Reports said $20 in cash was stolen.

Dealers Hail Credit Order

more credit buying than before in our business, though of course people still have more money than they used to."

Welcomes Action.

Commented W. L Faulkner, manager of Kobacker's Department store, 32 North Main street:

"We welcome this action, and think that it will enable people to buy more merchandise. It's especially nice to have happened at this time, just before the Christmas shopping begins."

The attitude of the personal finance companies was illustrated by Frank S. Remy, manager of the City Loan, 82 North Main street, who said:

"It's a step in the right direction. The installment buyer has been discriminated against under Regulation W, which forced people to make large down payments no matter how greatly needed the items were, while the fellow with cash was allowed the full range of the market."

If you're interested in buying a yacht, the government order dropped all installment controls from such items.

Other consumer goods from which controls were eliminated were bicycles, locks, jewelry, watches, yard goods, draperies, silverware, furnaces, airplanes and some electrical appliances, including lamps.

Regulation W was invoked in 1941 to combat inflation. Some Mansfield credit men privately predicted all controls would be dropped the first of the year, thus opening the way to the pre-war "Dollar-down-dollar-a-week" buying.

NEW SNOW STORM SWEEPS ROCKIES

DENVER — (AP) — A new storm swept south along the Rockies today, blanketing Montana and Wyoming with snow and hampering rescue efforts in Eastern Colorado where many families still are marooned and much livestock is weakened by two weeks without food.

The weather bureau said the snow would be light, but predicted strong winds that would drift the snow already on the ground, and low temperatures which cattlemen said would cause heavy livestock losses. The storm centered along the eastern slope of the mountains.

"It followed the third storm to strike Colorado within two weeks, bringing death to 18 persons.

J. G. WALLACE STRICKEN AT 74

He was also a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church here.

As well known in Urbana as he was in Mansfield for his civic interests, Mr. Wallace organized the Kiwanis club there and was a member of the Champaign Lodge F. and A. M., of Urbana, and of the Chapter, Council and Commandery of the Urbana and Dayton Consistory.

Graduating from Urbana high school, Mr. Wallace attended the University of Minnesota, where his studies were interrupted by his enlistment in the Spanish-American war. Returning to Urbana after 13 months overseas' service, he became city editor for the Urbana Citizen and later served as assistant county treasurer for Champaign county for six years.

His first position in Mansfield was with the DeYarmon Brothers Insurance company. He later served with the Greater American Insurance company.

Surviving are his wife, Claudine Hull Wallace; one son, James G. Wallace, jr., of Mansfield; one daughter, Mrs. Homer Eldred, of Canton; two granddaughters; four sisters, Misses Mayme and Catherine Wallace Mrs. S. M. Jennings, Mrs. F. A. Downs, all of Urbana; and one brother, Robert G. Wallace of Chelmsford, Mass.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11:30 a. m. at the Finefrock funeral home with Rev. David N. Roller and Rev. A. L. Linder officiating. Th body will then be removed to the Humphries and Son funeral home in Urbana for services at 3 p. m. and burial in Oakdale cemetery, Urbana.

BRITISH GRIDDER DIES

CAIRO—(AP)—Major Alec Jackson, 41, former international British football player, died Friday night.

Husband Loses Wife Over Bet On 'Sure Shot'

CHICAGO —(UNS)— Mrs. Evelyn Koziol, 26, was single today because she testified she wouldn't give her husband, Joseph, 31, the $10 he wanted to bet on a "sure shot" horse.

She won her divorce on cruelty grounds when she testified her husband whacked her with a rolled newspaper containing the results of the race in which the horse he wanted to back, "Long Ago," had won and paid $33.

HUNT SNOWY GRAVES OF 11 CRASH VICTIMS

BURBANK, Cal. —(U.P.)— Rescuers toiled up the rocky slopes of Cobblestone mountain today to the snowy grave of a Western Airlines transport which vanished three days ago with 11 persons aboard, all feared dead.

None of the searchers who flew over the half-shrouded remains of the still-smoldering twin-engined DC-3 believed there could be any survivors. The pilots expressed belief the victims were buried by fast-falling snow where they were hurled when the plane smashed head-on in a blinding storm.

The rescue party of 25 that started out at dawn in freezing temperatures to travel the last four miles on foot through the three feet of snow and brush four feet high, so thick that horses could not pass through it. They expected to use axes to cut through the bush for the last mile.

MOTORIST KILLED

CINCINNATI — (AP) — A man identified as Robert L. Magee, 28, was killed here last night as his automobile collided with a streetcar.

STRIKE WOULD HIT INDUSTRIES

supplies of copper and other needed metals come through, it would mean work curtailment, he said.

At the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company there is no immediate danger because of lack of fuel supplies, officials said today.

Supplies Vary.

The situation among Mansfield retail coal dealers varies. One dealer today had only a small amount of stoker coal, but others reported up to 14 cars on hand. Most coal dealers have already supplied customers with the first winter order of coal. What is now in basement and in cars should supply Mansfield homes for several weeks unless the weather should suddenly turn very cold, dealers said.

Throughout the nation the situation was more serious than that in Mansfield plants. Press releases said, the steel industry, largest user of bituminous coal, had only a 14-to-40 day supply of coal on hand.

A spokesman for the steel industry said that if the strike materializes, hundreds of small mills and fabricating plants will face early recession of production.

Bedtime Stories

SLOWPOKE HAS A PURPOSE

Slowpoke the Box Turtle lives n land, not in the water, as most f his cousins do. Indeed, he has ery little use for water His feet re not webbed for swimming, ke the feet of his water-loving ousins the Terrapins, but more ke those of his big Southern ousins, the Tortoise They are al landlubbers, as folks who ever go in or on the water are alled

Peter Rabbit had watched him et a mushroom which Chatterer he Red Squirrel had shrieked was is but had not dared try to take way from him Now Slowpoke as slowly traveling through the reen Forest. Speed is something Slowpoke doesn't possess, ence his name, but he does ossess purpose in what he is doig and sticks to it So it is that hen he has started for a certain lace he gets there surprisingly ell for one who walks so slowly.

Peter watched Chatterer put to dry what remained of that mushroom, then hurried to catch up with Slowpoke. Peter always is curious about something or somebody Just now he was curious about Slowpoke Peter had known Slowpoke for as long as he could remember They had been friends all that time But one may have friends for a long time and still know very little about them

"I know you like berries and some green things, but I didn't know you eat mushrooms until I saw you eating that one back there," said Peter when he caught up with Slowpoke

"There are mushrooms and mushrooms. Some are very good eating That one was" hissed Slowpoke He hisses when he talks "That probably is the last one I will get this season," he added

"Why?" asked Peter.

"Because the season is about over and it is time to go to bed," hissed Slowpoke

"But it isn't cold weather yet," said Peter

"Did Skimmer the Swallow and most of the other birds wait for cold weather before starting for the sunny South?" asked Slowpoke, plodding along without once stopping

"No," replied Peter then added, "But they have a long way to go, you don't By the way, where do you go?"

"To sleep," hissed Slowpoke as if that was answer enough

"Of course," said Peter "I know that But where do you go to sleep?"

"In the ground," replied Slowpoke, and kept right on going

"I know that, too," said Peter "What I want to know is whereabouts in the ground"

"I don't know yet myself I've only just started on my way," said the Turtle

"But if you are on your way you must know where you are going" persisted Peter

"Do you know where you are going this minute?" hissed Slowpoke

"No," confessed Peter. "Nowhere in particular, I guess"

"Neither do I know where I'm going, but it isn't nowhere in particular It is somewhere in particular, only I don't know where it is I've just started to look for it," said Slowpoke, plodding along steadily

"How will you know it when you find it?" persisted Peter

"How do you know anything you are looking for when you find it?" retorted the slow-moving Turtle

"Do you dig a hole in the ground in which to sleep?" was Peter's next question

"Sometimes," replied Slowpoke

"Why just sometimes? Why not always?" Peter persevered

"Sometimes some one digs one for me It saves me a lot of work" said Slowpoke "Now all I know is that I am going to find a place to sleep whether I dig it or some one else digs it for me I'll just keep going until I do So now suppose you mind your own business, Peter Rabbit"

The next story: "Slowpoke Shuts Up."

THIEVES KEEP POLICE BUSY

Theft of cash and merchandise amounting to nearly $250 in Mansfield and Bellville yesterday and last night was reported today to police and Sheriff Frank E. Robinson.

Mansfield police also were told that an Orchard street couple was molested last night by three men who demanded money, while a Springmill street resident said a man entered her home and fled without taking anything when she called for help.

Theft of a purse containing $70 from the office of the Loughridge insurance office in the Farmers Bank building yesterday afternoon was reported by Emma Beck, 253 West Fourth street, owner of the purse. She said it was taken while she was out of the office.

Leo Kaffalas, who lives at the DeSoto hotel, told police a saxophone and equipment valued at $155 were stolen from his automobile yesterday afternoon while it was parked at Third and Adams streets.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Parker, 71 Orchard street, said three men approached their automobile on Orchard street about midnight. One of the men demanded money, and when Parker refused, another attempted to seize his wife. Parker hailed a passing motorist, who took him to police headquarters. Police failed to find any trace of the men.

Mrs. Clyde Wharton, 506 Springmill street, reported a strange man entered the living room of her residence yesterday without knocking. He did not attempt to molest her and she said apparently nothing was missing. He fled when she called for help.

Sheriff's officers today were investigating a report of a burglary of the Shell filling station on South Main street in Bellville. Reports said $20 in cash was stolen.

more credit buying than before in our business, though of course people still have more money than they used to."

Welcomes Action.

Commented W. L Faulkner, manager of Kobacker's Department store, 32 North Main street:

"We welcome this action, and think that it will enable people to buy more merchandise. It's especially nice to have happened at this time, just before the Christmas shopping begins."

The attitude of the personal finance companies was illustrated by Frank S. Remy, manager of the City Loan, 82 North Main street, who said:

"It's a step in the right direction. The installment buyer has been discriminated against under Regulation W, which forced people to make large down payments no matter how greatly needed the items were, while the fellow with cash was allowed the full range of the market."

If you're interested in buying a yacht, the government order dropped all installment controls from such items.

Other consumer goods from which controls were eliminated were bicycles, locks, jewelry, watches, yard goods, draperies, silverware, furnaces, airplanes and some electrical appliances, including lamps.

Regulation W was invoked in 1941 to combat inflation. Some Mansfield credit men privately predicted all controls would be dropped the first of the year, thus opening the way to the pre-war "Dollar-down-dollar-a-week" buying.

NEW SNOW STORM SWEEPS ROCKIES

DENVER — (AP) — A new storm swept south along the Rockies today, blanketing Montana and Wyoming with snow and hampering rescue efforts in Eastern Colorado where many families still are marooned and much livestock is weakened by two weeks without food.

The weather bureau said the snow would be light, but predicted strong winds that would drift the snow already on the ground, and low temperatures which cattlemen said would cause heavy livestock losses The storm centered along the eastern slope of the mountains.

It followed the third storm to strike Colorado within two weeks, bringing death to 18 persons.

J. G. WALLACE STRICKEN AT 74

He was also a member of the Park Avenue Baptist church here.

As well known in Urbana as he was in Mansfield for his civic interests, Mr. Wallace organized the Kiwanis club there and was a member of the Champaign Lodge F. and A. M., of Urbana, and of the Chapter, Council and Commandery of the Urbana and Dayton Consistory.

Graduating from Urbana high school, Mr. Wallace attended the University of Minnesota, where his studies were interrupted by his enlistment in the Spanish-American war. Returning to Urbana after 13 months overseas' service, he became city editor for the Urbana Citizen and later served as assistant county treasurer for Champaign county for six years.

His first position in Mansfield was with the DeYarmon Brothers Insurance company. He later served with the Greater American Insurance company.

Surviving are his wife, Claudine Hull Wallace; one son, James G. Wallace, jr., of Mansfield; one daughter, Mrs. Homer Eldred, of Canton; two granddaughters; four sisters, Misses Mayme and Catherine Wallace Mrs. S. M. Jennings, Mrs. F. A. Downs, all of Urbana; and one brother, Robert G. Wallace of Chelmsford, Mass.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 11:30 a. m. at the Finefrock funeral home with Rev. David N. Roller and Rev. A. L. Linder officiating. Th body will then be removed to the Humphries and Son funeral home in Urbana for services at 3 p. m. and burial in Oakdale cemetery, Urbana.

Husband Loses Wife Over Bet On 'Sure Shot'

CHICAGO —(INS)— Mrs. Evelyn Koziol, 26, was single today because she testified she wouldn't give Hiber husband, Joseph, 31, the $1000 he wanted to bet on a "sure shoot" horse.

She won her divorce on cruelty grounds when she testified her husband whacked her with a rolled newspaper containing the results of the race in which the horse he wanted to back, "Long Ago," had won and paid $33.

HUNT SNOWY GRAVES OF 11 CRASH VICTIMS

BURBANK, Cal. —(UP)— Rescuers toiled up these rocky slopes of Cobblestone mountain today to the snowy grave of a Western Airlines transport which vanished three days ago with 11 persons aboard, all feared dead.

None of the searchers who flew over the half-shrouded remains of the still-smoldering twin-engined DC-3 believed there could be any survivors. The pilots expressed belief the victims were buried by fast-falling snow where they were hurled when the plane smashed head-on in a blinding storm.

The rescue party of 25 that started out at dawn in freezing temperatures to travel the last four miles on foot through the three feet of snow and brush four feet high, so thick that horses could not pass through it. They expected to use axes to cut through the bush for the last mile.

MOTORIST KILLED

CINCINNATI — (AP) — A man identified as Robert L. Magee, 28, was killed here last night as his automobile collided with a streetcar.

STRIKE WOULD HIT INDUSTRIES

supplies of copper and other needed metals come through, it would mean work curtailment, he said.

At the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company there is no immediate danger because of lack of fuel supplies, officials said today.

Supplies Vary.

The situation among Mansfield retail coal dealers varies. One dealer today had only a small amount of stoker coal, but others reported up to 14 cars on hand. Most coal dealers have already supplied customers with the first winter order of coal. What is now in basement and in cars should supply Mansfield homes for several weeks unless the weather should suddenly turn very cold, dealers said.

Throughout the nation the situation was more serious than that in Mansfield plants. Press releases said, the steel industry, largest user of bituminous coal, had only a 14-to-40 day supply of coal on hand.

A spokesman for the steel industry said that if the strike materializes, hundreds of small mills and fabricating plants will face early recession bf production.

Winchell — On Broadway

THERE IS A HEAP of talk suggesting Mr. Truman step down to make room for a Repub president in order to bring the White House and the congress into rhythm. Otherwise, claim the commentators, the Dem. Pres. and GOP lawmakers will claw each other to tatters for the next two years. . . . There are lots of opinions for and agin the idea with the betting favoring Mr. Big to hang onto his portfolio.

What murders your reporter is the calm acceptance by the public that the relations between the two branches have to be bad. It is just taken for granted that the cat-and-dog scrap is unavoidable . . . You get the idea the Repubs have decided that whatever Truman wants is no good, and the Dems have the same opinion of the GOP schemes . . .The little matter of the welfare of the people just hasn't come up. The people are expected to hold still while the elected honorables pot-shot each other and strengthen the party . . . The shocking thing is that nobody is outraged by it. Nobody's even surprised!

* * *

Your aghast scrivener could be wrong (who said "unthinkable?"), but weren't all those winning candidates running for offices on oath of office which pledges every candidate to handle his job the best way he knows how? . . . Nobody seems to be mentioning those trifles . . . What makes the Republicans so certain that Mr. Truman is going to be wrong all the time? Or the surviving Democrats certain that the GOP-topped Congress will be? . . . Just supposing one side or the other comes up with a corking idea that benefits the nation as a whole. Does party loyalty command the opposition to wreck it lest it make its sponsors look good? That's another point skipped in the current schmoosing.

Before Election Day the masses were urged to hurry to the polls and vote for the kind of gov't they wanted. It has to be supposed that's what they did. They certainly turned out in enough numbers to indicate they had a stake in what goes on . . . What becomes of their wants during the 2 years of brawling predicted for Washington by the bunch trying to make a nice nest for themselves in 1948?

If that's what the office-holders in Washington, whether Dem or Repub, are planning, the brawl will go down in history as one of the most gigantic double-crosses ever pulled on a people . . . The people voted for action, for legislation to protect their businesses and their jobs and their families. That was a promise to them.

When the votes were counted some of the winners puffed up to the mikes and made a lot of brave mouthings about the mandate from the people. But not once, since all this talk of brawling began, have any of those mandated windbags stepped out and offered to jump the party stratagems and do a little something for the people . . . Not much good comes to the people while politicians are covering their chins and reaching for the enemy's. The last time politicos got divided in Washington the nation almost starved to death. The best the bystanders can expect from the party wars is depression.

Have a look at your mandate, Bub.

Lippmann — Today and Tomorrow

THE NEW REPUBLICAN majority will challenge the right of Bilbo to a seat in the senate. They could not, as they take over, make a better first use of the power entrusted to them. This man has long been, as Senator Taft once said, "a disgrace to the senate," and the Republicans will be protecting American freedom, the integrity of representative government, and the good name of the United States, by exercising their constitutional right to declare that he is not qualified to be a member of the senate.

The Republican majority in the house will at the same time, we may assume, strip Representative Rankin of the tyrannical power which he has usurped, and put an end to this man's lawless, subversive, and outrageous attacks on the constitutional liberties of the American people.

The cleansing of the congress will dispose of the notion that the Republican party is a collecting station for the crackpots, fanatics, adventurers, and racketeers, who, having wrapped themselves in the American flag, deny every principle which that flag stands for in this country and in the world.

THE HERITAGE of the Republican party descends from Washington through Lincoln and Theodore Roosevelt, and to decontaminate this proud tradition is the greatest service that can be done immediately for that party.

For the American people are much more than their stomachs and their pocketbooks, and no party can win their confidence, and hold it, which does not cherish the American cause and does not speak to their souls.

The revival of the Republican party will, if it is successful, produce quite different results than many today anticipate. For more than thirty years, ever since the political disaster of 1910, the traditional roles of the two parties have been reversed. The Republicans, who had from Washington and Hamilton through Lincoln to Theodore Roosevelt been the federal party, the advocates of a strong government acting positively, became in our generation the advocates of an isolationist and negative conduct of government.

THE DEMOCRATS, by tradition anti-federalist and laissez-faire, became under Wilson and Franklin D. Roosevelt a federalist party prepared to recognize that the United States is a world power.

This reversal of roles is not necessarily final. It was in a sense an accident that the Democratic party was in power during the two world wars. Had the Republicans been in power, they would certainly have defended the vital interests of the country as strongly as did the Democrats. For the Republican tradition is not more isolationist than the Democratic, and men like Mr. Stimson, Mr. Austin, and Mr. John Foster Dulles are not exceptions but are in the main line of Republicanism.

The natural place for the abler men of the new generation to go is at this time into the Republican party. If the doors are opened to them, they will go there, and the Republican party will be for the next period of time the instrument of national action.

RESERVE UNIT TO MAKE CITY DEFENSE LINK

Commander Tells Club Navy Compliments Mansfield By Building Armory Here.

The $300,000 naval armory which will be constructed in Mansfield next spring will represent a "vital phase in national security," Lt. Comdr. A. E. Heiser, district director of naval reserve, told members of the Amima club last night.

Cmdr. Heiser, who outlined the navy's ambitious program planned here at a dinner meeting of the club at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, also declared that establishment of a division of "ready" or organized reserve here was a compliment to Mansfield's contributions both in men and in industry during World War II.

In addition, he said, the armory will prove to be a distinct asset to the community, both in the expenditure of several hundreds of thousands of dollars for construction and equipment and a new payroll of "some $50,000 annually" to officers and men of the division.

"Preparedness is essential to national security," he said. "The present naval reserve represents a marvelous stride. After World War I the reserve program degenerated to drill work and marching.

"When World War II broke, we were good foot soldiers, but not sailors. If a national emergency ever should arise again, it won't be that way."

Cmdr. Heiser then outlined the navy's plans for the organized reserve. Under the present program, much of the training will be highly technical "to train men in the latest developments of modern naval techniques."

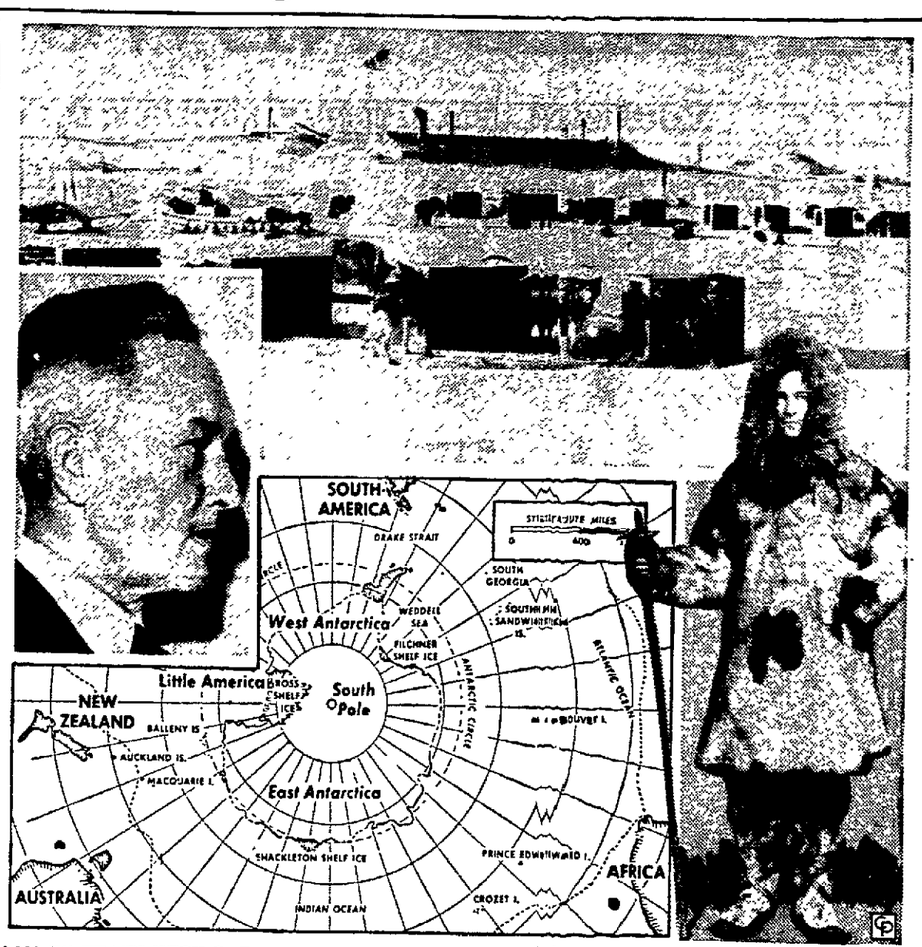
The 154 by 125-foot armory will contain radio, radar, sonar, boiler room and mechanical equipment. As an example of the type of equipment planned, he disclosed that the radio receiving room at the armory will contain nine radios. Transmitters also will be installed.

In one section of the armory, a complete boiler room, switchboard and damage-control panel will be installed, identical to that used on a modern destroyer. Reservists will be trained with the most modern equipment, he said.

Cmdr. Heiser revealed that construction of the armory will begin "as soon as the frost's out of the ground," and the building will be completed by June 1. The armory will be located on city property on Ashland road, near the present National Guard armory.

The ready reserve will consist of approximately 200 men and 13 officers and, in addition, volunteer reserve units of electronic warfare units totalling some 100 officers and men will be based at the armory. A regular navy unit consisting of five stationkeepers will keep the armory "shipshape."

Cmdr. Heiser was introduced by W. W. Workman, president of the Amima club. Following Cmdr. Heiser's talk, Workman announced that the next meeting of the organization on Nov. 29 will be "Ladies' night."



4,000 TO TRAIN WITH BYRD AT BOTTOM OF WORLD—The U. S. Navy is sending 4,000 men with Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, inset, to the bottom of the world this winter to train under harsh Polar conditions. The Antarctic expedition of 13 ships will carry representatives of the army, air and ground forces and sailing from both the east and west U. S. coasts in December will rendezvous at an island in the Antarctic. During winter months, which will be summer there with temperatures rising to almost freezing, these expedition will develop naval techniques for establishing bases under polar conditions and amplify scientific knowledge of the Antarctic. At right, Admiral Byrd is shown in his polar region clothes on a previous expedition, one of two he made between 1928 and 1933. His "Little Americases," shown top, is indicated on the map.

AVC DEMANDS HOUSING ACTION

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The American Veterans committee and a group of state veterans affairs directors today demanded quick and drastic government action to step up the veterans housing program.

Franklin D. Roosevelt jr., housing chairman of the AVC, asked President Truman to "make the RFC quick quibbling" over whether it should lend $90,000,000 to would-be home prefabricators.

The Association of State Directors of Veterans Affairs called for a nationwide "freezing or moratorium of all non-housing construction except the very few top-priority projects which are of immediate and absolute urgency."

Meanwhile a government housing official predicted "drastic cutbacks," because of rising costs, in a plan to set up 188,000 surplus war dwelling units with funds of the Federal Public Housing Authority.

Young Roosevelt told a news conference yesterday rent controls must be maintained. If ceilings were wiped out as suggested by the National Association of Real Estate boards, he declared, "the average veteran would put out almost one half of his income for rent."

He said he had wired the president asking that the White House require RFC to set the prefabricators up in business, as urged by Housing Expediter Wilson Wyatt.

The RFC has declined to make the loans mainly on the ground the applicants are not putting up enough of their own capital.

Pastorius Rites Conducted Today

Funeral services for Ashabel D Pastorius, 83, who died Thursday in Toledo, were held at 10 a. m. today at the Wappner funeral home in charge of Adj. R. L. Gutterman of the Volunteers of America. Burial was in the Mansfield cemetery.

Mr. Pastorius, who died following a lingering illness, was the father of Darrell Pastorius of Mansfield, his only survivor. He was born June 14, 1863, in Pennsylvania and came to Mansfield 60 years ago, living here until a few years ago.

CITY RESIDENT HURT IN CRASH

A 74-year-old woman was in "fair" condition in General hospital today following a head-on collision between two automobiles last night on U. S. Route 30-N near Greter's lake road.

Miss Lela Zay, 427 South Main street, received a possible jaw fracture and face lacerations when the automobile which she was driving was in collision with a car driven by Carl R. Warne, 50, Mansfield, R. D. 6.

The state highway patrol reported Warne received lacerations of the nose, wrist and upper lip. He was released after treatment at General hospital. Both cars were damaged, the patrol said.

Two Toledo men escaped serious injury last night when the automobile in which they were riding overturned twice on the Plymouth-Springmill road north of State Route 96.

Sheriff's officers listed the driver as Clair Rumbaugh, and the passenger as Richard Gill, both of Toledo. Rumbaugh said he lost control of the car as he drove over a hill. The men were treated by a Shelby doctor and released. The car was badly damaged.

Scouts Honor Mrs. Graham

Mrs. John W. Graham, 514 Marion avenue, today possessed a "thanks pin" presented to her by the Girl Scout Leaders' club for the services rendered by Mrs. Graham during her residence here.

Mrs Graham, who is moving to Morgantown, W. Va., was honored Thursday night at a party at the First Presbyterian church.

During the period she lived in Mansfield, she was one of the first members of the Mansfield Girl Scout council, and is a former treasurer and commissioner. She is one of the eight Eddy trainers in the Kenowa region, which embraces Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia.

YMCA Aims for 1,000 Members As Campaign Gets Under Way

A campaign to boost YMCA membership in Mansfield close to the 1,000-mark was underway today.

A "kick-off" dinner last night at the 'Y' launched the drive for 400 new members. Present membership is approximately 550.

Speaking at last night's dinner meeting, Charles I Lake, president of the YMCA bdboard, urged members to use "your business salesmanship" to make the drive a success.

Richard Tucker, general campaign chairman, presided at the rally. Invocation preceding the dinner was given by Ralph Chapman, 'Y' secretary, and short talks were igven by Richard Sheehlhe and Robert Ross, division chairmen.

In his "pep" talk to campaign workers, Lake expanded upon the importance of YMCA activities to Mansfield youth and urged members to "sell" the idea of greater 'Y' participation to prospective members.

Division chairmen include Vernon Smeltzer and Franklyn Lay, co-chairmen for the large industries division; Myron Miller and Robert Horn, uptown group; Ross and Charles Green for the small industries and Harold Mansfield for schools

First report of division chairmen will be given Tuesday at 5 p. m. at the YMCA.

GOP SAYS $665,026 SPENT IN ELECTION

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Ohioans Republicans spent $665,026 out of $684,749 contributed for their successful election campaign, a report filed with the secretary of state showed today.

The allotment to the state central committee was $195,000. The central committee reported receiving an additional $5,149 from other sources and spending $137,127, leaving a balance of $63,022 for operation of permanent state headquarters.

Clarence H. Knisley, Democrat state campaign director, reported receipts and expenditures of $10,975.

The Ohio CIO-PAC spent $5,454 in behalf of endorsed candidates and had a balance of $202 left for use in political education, William V. Lavelle, secretary-treasurer, reported.

OPS EMPLOYES PICK UNIONS

Ohio Public Service company powerhouse employes, including those in the Mansfield plant, chose the CIO Utility Workers of America to represent them as bargaining agents in NLRB run-off elections yesterday.

Distribution station workers at Mansfield and nine other Ohio cities picked the AFL International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers as their union representative.

The CIO union won among powerhouse employes by a vote of 108 to 83. Workers in Alliance, Lorain, Dilles Bottom and Mansfield cast ballots in the run-off ordered by the NLRB.

The results of the election among distribution workers was 161 votes for the AFL and 93 in favor of the CIO. Workers at Sandusky, Port Clinton, Bellevue, Vermillion, Elyria, Ashland, Massillon, Alliance, Lorain and Mansfield participated in the run-off.

MASONS HONOR HUGO H. YOUNG

LOUDONVILLE — Nearly 500 members of the Masonic order in northcentral Ohio honored Hugo H. Young, recently made a 33rd degree Mason, at ceremonies last night at the Loudonville high school. Young is president and general manager of the Flxible company here.

A dinner preceding the reception was attended by 100 high ranking Masons and officers. Speaker for the evening was John W. Bricker, senator-elect, who spoke to the group on the part Masons can take in making the world a better place.

Notable Masonic members at the dinner and reception included John E. Powell, William Barton, L. Ewing Jones, R. C. Moffitt, J. Allen Payne and Bert Williams, all of Columbus; Walter Hessenauer, Galion and W. S. Sedgwick of Newark, all 33rd degree Masons.

Also included in the group were Henry Senert of Mansfield, Kel Osborne of Columbus and Emery Bender of Renoldsburg. They will receive the 33rd degree in Cincinnati in 1947.

French Cut Power To Conserve Coal

PARIS—(INS)—The French press is bitterly assailing the disclosure that national rationing of electricity will go into effect Monday because of a critical coal shortage.

According to the plan under study by the ministry of production, power lines to private homes will be shut off two consecutive days each week and three days a week in the case of non-priority industries.

THEY GAVE TIME—

Although most persons consider the Red Cross as staffed by paid personnel, much of the important work done by the local chapter is that accomplished solely by volunteer workers. During October 35 volunteers gave 448 hours to promote the service of the Red Cross in Mansfield and Richland county. This included service on the staff, motor, home service and nurses' aide corps and production group.

MISS THOSE SALUTES?—

For one reason or another quite a number of young men in Mansfield who were Army officers during World War II are interested in getting back into the service with regular army commissions, according to M/Sgt. Daniel A. DeSalvo, recruiter in charge of the Army Recruiting Station in the Post Office building. DeSalvo reports that his office was a busy place yesterday with a considerable number of former officers making inquiries concerning the Army's recent announcement of plans to commission into the regular army 25,000 temporary grade officers of World War II. Applicants will compete with each other according to rank and branch of service desired.

INKY'D RATHER HUNT—

Mayor Roy W. Vaughn may not have bagged a record number of rabbits yesterday (he got two) but he owns one of the cleverest of "rabbit" dogs. The dog's name —"Inky"—is appropriate too. Inky is jet black. In addition to being a good hunting dog, Inky's "official manner" befits that of a dog owned by a city's chief executive. Indeed, the short-legged, short-haired canine's "front office" conduct rivals that of the late President Roosevelt's "Fala." A sharp command from the mayor brings Inky to a sitting position and he gives out with a bark which is reputed to be "hello"—in dog-uage, of course. Inky greeted all comers with alacrity this morning at the mayor's office—but not without a look which indicated he longed to be off to the hunt again.

STOPS LEAKS—

Somebody's finally agreed to repair the city building's roof—and help keep Mansfield's "official family" dry this winter.

A contract for the job has been awarded to E. C. Leisy, 20 West Sixth street, who's agreed to plug up the leaks for $785. Service-Safety Director William W. Enlow, in announcing the award today, said that work is to start early next week and be completed in about two weeks.

Added Benefits Offered Marines

Marines who enlisted for limited service in Class IV, Marine corps reserve, are advised that they may gain additional benefits in terminal leave settlements, Sgt. Charles Bibbs, of the Mansfield Marine recruiting station said today.

The Act creating limited service provides that men serving in this group, who have qualified dependents should receive quarters and subsistence allowances computed at $1.25 per day, Biggs said. This additional allowance accrues only to the former Marines who were actually serving in Class IV of the reserve at the time of their discharge.

Biggs said that Marines who qualify for this allowance should be sure to state "USMCR—Class IV" in Section No. 4 of the terminal leave pay form. Assistance and further information will be furnished by the Marine recruiting station to those interested.

Chemical Society To Hear Speaker

Alden H. Emery, national secretary and business manager of the American Chemical society, will speak on "The Future of ter ection of the society next Tuesday evening at Babcock hall on Wooster college campus.

Emery, a native of New Hampshire, is a graduate of Oberlin college and Ohio State university. He served as assistant manager of the society for 10 years until his appointment to his present post early this year. Previously he had been an engineer with the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

MOVE STARTS TO RID UNION OF RED TAINT

Committee Fails In Effort At 'Painless Surrender' of Communists.

By CHARLES H. HERBOLD

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J.—(UP)—CIO President Philip Murray was caught today in the middle of bitter behind-the-scenes struggle by powerful right wing union leaders seeking to rid the CIO of a Communist taint.

He was due to receive a report from a special six-man committee that it had been unable to reach a deal on procedure for ridding the CIO of Communist influence and placing the next move up to Murray.

Murray appointed the committee late yesterday in a last-ditch effort to obtain a painless surrender by the Communist forces. The committee consists of Presidents Walter Reuther, United Auto Workers; Emil Rieve, Textile Workers Union, and Milton Murray, American Newspaper Guild, all right-wingers; Michael Quill, Transport Workers Union; Abram Flexer, United Public Workers, and Ben Gold, International Fur Workers, all left-wingers.

Meeting Deadlocks.

A three-hour committee meeting last night resulted in a deadlock as the left-wingers solidly resisted every demand of the right-wingers that the pro-Communists cease their efforts to plunge the CIO into class warfare and lead it astray from trade union objectives.

One CIO leader predicted that unless the executive board can resolve the conflict, the battle will explode on the floor of the convention beginning Monday. He said there appeared little doubt but that Murray would give a go-ahead signal for all-out anti-Communist drive if no deal is made.

Right wing leaders appeared determined to force the pro-Communist elements to knuckle under or get out of the CIO, one informant said. Only a few CIO leaders are members of the Communist party and they control unions with about 500,000 of the slightly more than 6,000,000 CIO members.

Move Proves Surprise.

Murray's appointment of the six-man committee came as a surprise after he pleaded in the executive board for a united front to win new wage increases.

He cited published statements of industrialists and congressmen as evidence that the CIO must be united to engage in what he said would be its toughest fight for wage gains and against labor legislative curbs.

The board unanimously voted him power to restrict the activities of pro-Communist individuals in state and industrial union councils. Under new rules he can take steps to expell council officials or members who make statements or engage in activities contrary to national CIO policy.

COURT ASSESSES $135 IN FINES

Eight persons were fined a total of $135 and costs today in municipal court, among them a man charged with petit larceny and two others who were reported to have cut each other in a fight.

Fined $25 and costs on the larceny charge and $5 and costs on a charge of intoxication was Joseph Anderson, North Adams street. He was charged with stealing a coat and a pair of gloves from a car owned by H. E. Finley, of Perrysville.

Charged with disorderly conduct, Homer Boggs and Kenneth Salyers, of the Erie Workers' camp, were fined $25 and costs each. Both were treated at General hospital for cuts reportedly received during a fight.

Arrested when he was found sitting in a car owned by Chester Huston, 256½ South Main street, Leslie Bell, of Louisville, Ky., was fined $25 and costs on a charge of being a suspicious person. He said he thought the car was owned by a friend.

Fined $10 and costs each were Paul E. Goldsmith, Galion, speeding; Howard Ware, 262 North Main street, failure to have an operator's license, and Elbert Snyder, Lucas, drunk and disorderly conduct.

A $25 bond was forfeited for hearing on a speeding charge.

TABER URGES SLASH OF $9,000,000,000

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A nine billion dollar reduction in the federal budget, accompanied by dismissal of at least 1,000,000 civilian government workers, has been recommended by Rep. Taber (R., N. Y.), who will head the house appropriations committee in the new congress.

At a news conference, Taber told reporters the $9,000,000,000 is the minimum "we might hope to save."

He proposed that the estimated 2,300,000 civilian employes of the government be reduced by at least 1,000,000 to effect a saving of $3,000,000,000. This cut, he said, can be made "without damaging the efficiency of the government."

Red, white and green clan plaid in a Junior dress designed for Fall 1946.

Juniors are going Scotch this Fall—but the gay clan plaid today's dress is made of is just one of its talking points for the new 1946-47 season. Billowing pushup sleeves, the small waistline look, a neckline hugging the throat, and full flare to the skirt are equally important trends seen throughout the collections of New York's noted designers of Junior clothes.

Books for the Younger Set

The books reviewed in this column have been on display at the Public Library during Book Week and will be available for circulation Monday.

SO THERE by Raile is a book of poems, some funny, some plain silly and some a little serious, nad all about a world of different things. There is a poem "So There" which has a trick to it.

THE MAGIC SHOP by Dolbier is one of those impossible but delightful stories, something like Mary Poppins. Dick and Denise wanted to buy their father a birthday present. And, of all things, they wanted a magic wand, they found one—in a queer little store where the clerk floated over their heads on a magic carpet and fed their dog magic biscuits when they weren't looking. Dick and Denise got the wand, as a gift from Mr. Oberon, who owned the store. There's a talking dog, and a strange lamp-post, in this new story of fun and make-believe.

Another story about magic is THE PLAIN PRINCESS by McGinley. Esmerelda had everything, beautiful hair, lovely clothes, her own riding horse, and servants to wait on her and give her everything she wanted. But still—she wasn't pretty. Her father promised a great reward to whomever knew some magic that would make the princess lovely. Since he also promised to chop off anyone's head if they tried and failed not many people wanted to try. One day along came Dame Goodwit. To find out what her magic was and how she turned THE PLAIN PRINCESS into the beautiful Esmerelda come up and get the book.

For those who like to read about real things there are three especially good books. BIRDS AT HOME by Henry is a big book, big enough so that the pictures will be a great help to you when you want to recognize birds. The pictures are all colored. With each picture goes a page or two about each bird, telling what it eats, where it lives and something about its habits.

THE PICTURE STORY OF HOLLAND by DeJong is a big book, too. It tells about the land of windmills, dikes and wooden shoes and flower bulbs. It is easy enough for third and fourth graders to read and will be fun to look at even for those who can't read the book.

THIS IS THE MOON by Cothren has true facts, adventure and make-believe all rolled into one grand book. The first part of the book will take you on a trip to the moon, you can do queer things, like seeing for miles and miles and jumping as high as a house—but you can't make any noise? Why? The second part tells about the moon, how important it is to us and how an eclipse once saved the life of Christopher Columbus. The third part is a collection of stories about the moon by many different people.

Dorothy Kilgallen—

"L.A. TO N.Y."—Every week the paper known as Variety, which is pleased to think of itself as the bible of show business, carries a column tagged with characteristic economy "N.Y. to L.A." and another identical department bears the title "L.A. to N.Y." These are simple devices for informing anyone with a quarter that Jeanette MacDonald, William Powell and Wallace Beery have scrammed out of Gotham and that almost simultaneously Myrna Loy, Eddie Goulding and Bette Davis have trained in. To an habitue of Toots Shor's, 21 or the Stork Club's Cub Room, L.A. to N.Y." means that new anecdotes, as well as faces, have arrived in town, because the chummier of the Hollywood natives like to spend part of a Manhattan vacation quietly gabbing about movie-making, past or present. Some of them sit around a place for hours, spinning yarns like a sweater factory.

Edward Arnold, for instance, likes to chuckle about the time he was scheduled to make his motion picture debu. This was not (as is popularly supposed) in the talkie era. The portly Arnold got his first cinema bid way back in 1919 when he was on Broadway in a play called "The Storm." D. W. Griffith was then beginning work on a movie to be titled "Way Down East." There was a part open for a husky farmhand type and Arnold was invited to test for the role. The scene was to show a farmer plowing his land. The plow was supposed to get caught in the earth, and Arnold was to walk over to it and lift the plow right out of the furrow. It was Griffith's plan to have the camera play on Arnold's straining muscles as he performed this feat of strength. But young Edward, at this point, committed the unthinkablye. He said to the great Griffith: "May I make a suggestion? This scene is rather silly. I've seen farmers work, and what they do in a spot like this is simply unhitch the horses, harness them to the other end, and pull away from the hole. People will laugh at the scene, if we do it this way." What happened? Don't be silly. Edward Arnold was not a member of the cast when "Way Down East" was released. He waited ten years or so before he bowed to the public through the medium of the celluloid.

Sam Goldwyn likes to recall the time in 1915 when he engineered his great coup: he persuaded the great Geraldine Farrar to appear in her first motion picture. Geraldine, who at that time was a combination Grace Moore-Lily Pons-Gladys Swarthout-Lillian Russel character in New York, experienced large qualms whenever the subject of films was mentioned, and getting her to Hollywood was a monumental project. But Sam did it, after swearing on everything dear to him that the production would be kept on a stratospheric level of dignity and refinement. And he attended Miss Farrar on the set every day during the making of the picture, eager to prove that she had made no mistake. When the production was finished, Goldwyn arranged a screening for the star in a private projection room. Things went well until along about the third reel, when the scene shifted to the court of one of the Louis of France. Suddenly Miss Farrar screamed, leaped from her chair, and rushed from the room Goldwyn was left sittting limply in his seat. He knew what Miss Farrar meant. There on the screen, four spear-carrying extras draped behind the throne were all authentically costumed—and all, at a furious pace, chewing large wads of gum!

Eddie Cantor's motion picture debut had its complicated side, too. His first picture was a silent film called "Special Delivery." In it he played a timid rookie postman, who, at the climax of the story, captured a bold band of train robbers. The movie was finished without too many headaches and Eddie began to feel all the things he'd heard about Hollywood were vicious rumors. Then the picture was shown publicly for the first time—a sneak preview in a small California theater. The audience seemed to love it. When it was over a friend walked over to Eddie and the producer and said: "A very funny picture, but of course you won't be able to release it." "Why not?" asked Eddie after he had been revived. "Haven't you heard?" said the pal. "The Federal government won't permit the showing of a mail robbery on the screen—not even when it's played for comedy." He was right, too. The company had to take the film back to the studio, twist the story around, and re-shoot for weeks afterward. That was when Eddie Cantor began to suspect that some of those things they say about Hollywood might be true.

Thanksgiving Holiday In Traditional Manner

By CHARLOTTE ADAMS

Make your Thanksgiving dinner table entirely beautiful in itself—and then have the food of equal handsomeness and the party will be a success.

An Irish linen tablecloth—your very best—is the traditional foundation for a festive table. For Thanksgiving there should be fruit in abundance in the center of the table, but how about varying that tradition by having both fruit and flowers—and even perhaps a few vegetables too, such as striped zuccini, artichokes, bell peppers and eggplant. Arrange the flowers low and close together, and keep those of the same kind in masses. Then use sprays of foliage—lemon leaves, ivy or whatever is available—to give balance and rhythm. For the grapes, pears, apples and vegetables give color and form.

And what goes on the table? Well, a turkey, if nothing else, is what most Americans say. And the stuffing which goes in that bird is important.

Stuffing for a 12-Pound Bird

- 4 cups of crumbs (or small cubes of bread)
- 4 cups celery (leaves and stalks) cut fine
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 2 medium sized white turnips, finely cut
- 3 medium sized onions, finely cut
- ½ teaspoons mixed poultry seasoning or
- ⅛ teaspoon sage
- ¼ teaspoon marjoram
- ½ teaspoon thyme
- ¼ teaspooh summer savory
- ¼ cup boiling water
- ⅛ cup butter or fortified margarine
- ½ dozen oysters, cut small

Measure all dry ingredients into large pan and toss together. Melt butter or margarine in boiling water; pour over crumbs; mix well. Add oysters and oyster liquor. Mix well and stuff the bird.

Preparing the turkey: When stuffed and trussed; rub well with salt all over outside, then spread with butter or margarine. Turkey is inclined to be a dry bird and needs the extra fat. Next take a piece of cheesecloth large enough to cover the top and sides of the bird; dip in melted fat, and then cover the bird. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees) 20 minutes to the pound, or until the bird is well done.

Green and White Christmas Peas With Onions

- 1 pound small white onions
- 1 pound frozen green peas
- 3 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine
- ⅛ teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 teaspoon minced parsley

Salt and pepper to taste.

Parboil the onions 5 minutes in small amount of water. Add peas, butter or margarine, lemon juice, salt, pepper and sugar. Cook quickly until peas are well heated through and all liquid absorbed. Add parsley and mix. Cover for a minute or two to allow flavor of parsley to season both onions and peas.

Sweet Potatoes With Almonds

- 4 to 6 large yams
- 4 tablespoons butter or fortified margarine
- ¼ cup blanched almonds, sliced
- ¼ cup of old fashioned molasses
- ⅛ teaspoon powdered mace
- 1-2 teaspoons sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon cinnamon

Scrub potatoes, boil in their jackets till tender. Skin. Cut into quarters or halves. Place in greased baking pan. Toast the sliced almonds in the butter or margarine. Remove from heat. Add molasses and powdered mace. Pour over potatoes. Mix sugar with cinnamon and sprinkle over top. Reheat gently just before serving.

Grandmothers Organize In Chicago

By CLAIRE COX
(UP Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO—Two hundred women, who believe that life really begins at 60, started a campaign today to establish an annual grandmothers' day.

They want to convince the world that grandma should be taken off the shelf.

The women, all grandmothers themselves, gathered at the opening session of the first annual postwar three-day convention of the National Grandmotherss' club.

They came to Chicago to have a good time, but they also want the folks at home to know that they are serious about the business of being grandmothers.

Mrs. Bea Good, Medina, New York, club president, said grandmothers had become forgotten women.

"We have been put on the shelf," she said. "The idea seems to be that grandma should stay home with the children and let everyone else go out and have a good time.

"We are going to put a stop to that."

Mrs. Good said the club will attempt to have a bill introduced in the next session of congress designating the first Sunday in October as Grandmother's Day.

"We have a Mother's Day, a Father's Day and a Children's Day, but nothing for grandmothers," she said.

"Life really begins at 60," she added. "Women can realize more of their dreams after 60 than at any time in their lives.

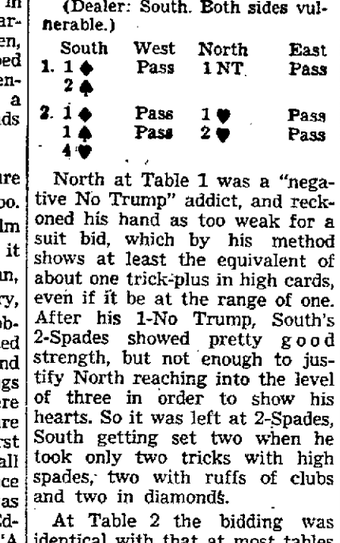
"Our children are grown and we know what we want out of life. We get more fun out of our grandchildren than we got out of our children because we invite them over to our homes to play for a few hours and then send them home and let their parents scrub, feed and clothe them."

Mrs. Good said grandmothers should spend a lot of time with children, whether they are their own grandchildren or somebody's else's.

"We are wiser than their parents," she said. "We can help them grow up—and they can help us stay young."

Barclay On Bridge

VERY FEW efficient bidders use the "negative No Trump" nowadays. Some of the newcomers to contract bridge have never even heard of it yet, but are likely to, as there are still some partners they may encounter who consider it efficient. The "negative No Trump" addicts use that call to indicate a bare minimum holding as a response to a suit bid of one. Most fine players, however, have found that, when a response of another suit may be made at the level of one, it is better tactics.



(Dealer: South. Both sides vulnerable.)

South	West	North	East
1. 1♦ 2♠	Pass	1 NT	Pass
2. 1♦ 1♠ 4♥	Pass Pass	1♥ 2♥	Pass Pass

North at Table 1 was a "negative No Trump" addict, and reckoned his hand as too weak for a suit bid, which by his method shows at least the equivalent of about one trick-plus in high cards, even if it be at the range of one. After his 1-No Trump, South's 2-Spades showed pretty good strength, but not enough to justify North reaching into the level of three in order to show his hearts. So it was left at 2-Spades, South getting set two when he took only two tricks with high spades, two with ruffs of clubs and two in diamonds.

At Table 2 the bidding was identical with that at most tables in the game. North was able to show his hearts at the bottom level, and South also squeezed in his spades at one. That made it easy for North, with a mere 2-Hearts, to show that his hand was weak but his suit rebiddable. South then had enough hearts to fit it, and the general strength and distribution to try game. It was made easily, after the club lead, with the loss of just one trick in clubs and two in trumps.

HELPS HOUSEWIVES

CINCINNATI —(AP)— The soap shortage has had the public library overloaded with requests for books on how to make the washroom commodity. So an assistant librarian visited a farm where soap-making is a tradition and came back with a recipe, which was printed and is being distributed to eager housewives.

WHITE OF MAINE WILLING TO TAKE MAJORITY POST

Vandenberg Agrees to Accept President Pro Tem.

WASHINGTON —(INS)—Senate Republican chieftains virtually settled their leadership problem today and moved on to clean up tag ends of the legislative program being charted for the 80th congress.

Sens. Wallace H. White (R)-Maine, and Arthur H. Vanderberg (R)-Mich). announced their willingness to fill the top posts of Majority leader and president pro tempore, respectively.

White in the same breath said he did not believe Sen. Robert A. Taft (R)-Ohio) would be a candidate for the majority leadership but was "certain" to remain as chairman of the steering committee and become head of the finance committee.

Every indication pointed to the three ranking senators being unopposed for those jobs.

Taft Sees Agreement.

At the same time, Taft announced that there was "general agreement" between senate and house Republicans on the legislative agenda for the new congress. Senate steering committee members reconvened today for further discussions after assigning such subjects as taxes, termination of war controls, government economy, labor legislation, and surplus property liquidation to various senators for study.

White, normally reticent, made his candidacy announcement shortly after Vandenberg told reporters he would like to have the presiding officership now held by Sen. McKellar (D) Tenn.

Taft himself declined to comment on the other announcements. Republican colleagues have indicated he believed he would be in a more effective position if he did not have the floor leadership.

Fight Looms in House.

In addition, a small group of GOP senators had made it clear that they would make a fight to "stop Taft" if he sought the majority post.

The senate Republican conference will pass on all these questions when it meets Dec. 30.

Two leadership contests, meanwhile, stood out in the house.

Reps. Halleck (R) Ind., Brown (R) Ohio, and Jenkins (R) Ohio, still were lined up for the new majority leadership in the lower chamber. The race appeared to be between Halleck and Brown.

Democrats faced with a fight over the minority leadership tried to resolve their differences by drafting Speaker Sam Rayburn of Texas to reverse his announced decision that he would not take floor responsibility.

Try and Stop Me

Back in the days when shortages were the only thing we were short of, a famous delicatessen in New York had a sign on the wall that read, "We make every kind of sandwich in the world. Just ask for it."

Late one night a prankster demanded a whale sandwich. The waiter stalled and said, "I'll have to speak to the boss."

He came back after a hurried consultation and reported, "The boss says he's darned if he'll cut up a whale just for one sandwich."

Divided Skirts, Blue Denim Suits Head Style Parade

By MARGUERITE MILLER

IT'S BLUE DENIM, BOYS—coats and trousers. Latest fad of the pigskin pushers at Senior high seems to be the stuff of which Farmer Brown's best work outfits are made, and it's going over big. Rounding out the unique sartorial effect are louder-the-better wool plaid shirts, multi-colored socks, and anything from loafers to round-toed G.I. field shoes.

Don't be too discouraged, though, girls, because clerks say the fellows are right on the beam when it comes to those Saturday night date clothes. Glen plaids for the trousers, contrasting smooth looking jackets and fancy knit or silk ties are being chosen.

THREE BELLS for smartness in the girls' fashion department go to the recently-returned divided skirts which are appearing on the racks now. Pleats fore and aft defy detection and the fit is as smooth as a kitten's ear. With the new short sleeved sweaters, the wide leather belts are naturals, and the added touch can be gained by adding silver Cupid pins or a dangling heart bracelet which says "I Love You" in several different languages. In other words, keep the boy friend guessing on that heart stuff, and go easy on the allowance at the same time. With all this, add just a hint of some woodsy fragrance.

DANCES are beginning to dot the fall social calendar and the latest and most interesting we've heard about is the one sponsored by the Hyfun Dance club which comes off Nov. 29. Bill Leicy's orchestra is slated for the affair in the YMCA gym and it's strictly for the Senior high set.

While we're on the subject, those dancing lesson sessions—at Liberty Park pavilion (which are drawing bigger and better crowds each Wednesday night) are going to put several more smooth dancers on the floor. Incidentally, this first session will last for 10 weeks, and if enough of you fellows and gals want to learn to dance, there might be another session.

MODERN TOY SHOP is what the YWCA has been turned into by the Junior Blue-Tri members who are repainting and repairing toys in view of a toy sale near the Yule season. With an eye on the profits from the sale for the club coffers, the girls are working overtime on the project Tuesday nights and Saturday afternoons.

SPLASHES and fun at the Senior high pool are in store for Boy Scouts every second and fourth Thursday of the month. Scouts who haven't turned out for this might try it and keep in swim trim for next summer.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, November 17

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows a continuation of a tumultuous or perturbed state of mind, with enmity and bitterness lasting through the early hours of the day, but as Sabbath grace, feeling and philosophy grow with advancing hours there is bound to be a restoration of good will, congenial and possibly convivial frame of mind and disposition. This is likely to lead graciously to important developments in home, business, social, affectional and cultural associations.

For the Birthday.

Those whose birthday it is may eventually find a turbulent and contentious state of mind, give way to friendly, generous and congenial impulses which will find happy reactions in all contacts. They will also have assurance of excellent conditions, stimulating exciting prospects in business, finance, new ventures and in all personal relations, with enhanced popularity and prestige. A friendly and fertile goal to be aimed at.

A child born on this day while being energetic and excitable will have at heart good feelings and generous attitudes, making for ultimate success and progress.
